LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

To His Excellency,

THOMAS W. BICKETT,

Governor of North Carolina.

SIR:—Pursuant to the requirements of the statute creating this branch of the State Government and acts supplemental thereto, I have the honor to submit herewith the Thirty-second report of the Department of Labor and Printing for the State of North Carolina covering the biennial period 1919-1920.

As is also permitted, it is desired to submit, for your consideration, and for the information of the General Assembly, some suggestions that the Department feels should be presented and acted upon by our lawmaking body.

INDUSTRIAL STANDARDS

North Carolina has become one of the leading manufacturing states of the Union and one of the most delinquent in providing and maintaining industrial standards for the protection of the worker. The preservation of life is a bounden duty of the State, and failure to meet the obligation is little short of a crime. The Department, therefore, desires to emphasize the importance of providing adequate industrial safety standards and means for enforcing the same as a safeguard against the loss of life and limb in the operation of machinery and in the mechanical construction and equipment of industrial plants.

THE STATE AS PEACEMAKER

The biennial period covered by this report has witnessed a greater number of serious strikes and lockouts than has been experienced during the past decade in this State. Industrial disturbances, occasionally arising from minor differences between employers and employees, frequently assume proportions which disturb the peace and prosperity of hundreds of innocent persons, and the Commonwealth, naturally, should manifest a vital interest in all such disputes. There is a remedy for this condition and the problem must be solved. The theory that "all things will adjust themselves and that right and justice will finally prevail," does not justify postponement of consideration of the subject. If the loss and suffering could be confined to parties actually concerned in disputes there might be some reason for further procrastination. But where the peace and well-being of entire communities are involved, the right and duty of the State to enter the controversy, in the rôle of peacemaker, can scarcely be questioned. Some method of adjusting all disputes arising between employers and employees which would assure justice to both parties concerned should be provided by our lawmaking body at the approaching session. Immediate attention to existing ills will make adjustment of them less difficult than any plan of delay and probably obviate the necessity for the application of vigorous measures later on. "A stitch in time saves nine."

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

We have scarcely begun our labor legislation along the line of giving security to labor in its job. One step in that direction would be the enactment of a workmen's compensation law based upon the principle of right and justice to wage-earners and those who employ them. Under present statutory conditions, when an accident occurs, in nine cases out of ten the victim is thrown upon his own resources. With a workable compensation law, properly enforced, no matter who is to blame in the matter of an accident, the laborer would be protected during the period of disability. The employer would insure himself against accidents by the introduction of devices to prevent them. He would face a new kind of taxation, a species which it would be lawful for him to evade, for he could evade the tax on accidents by preventing the accidents. His claim agent would be converted into a safety expert, whose activities would be largely confined to the installation of proper safeguards rather than in securing releases from injured employees due oftentimes to defective machinery. Workmen's compensation introduces the idea not of making the employer a petty criminal, but simply making him a taxpayer and giving him the option of getting rid of his tax by getting rid of accidents. He would put in safety departments and create safety committees from the employees to coöperate with the management. Forty-two states have provided workmen's compensation laws. Why not North Carolina?

BOILER INSPECTION

Numerous deaths occur every year from the use of defective boilers—especially in the logging industry—and a remedy for this wanton loss of life ought to be provided. The Department earnestly recommends the enactment of a State boiler inspection law requiring the inspection semiannually of all steam boilers in industrial establishments and logging camps by a State boiler inspector; except boilers inspected and insured by surety companies, or those inspected by authority of municipal codes, as steam plants located within city limits and licensed on the recommendation of experienced engineers. State inspection, and a requirement that at least one licensed engineer be employed in every plant located outside the limits of cities and towns where local inspection is not enforced, would undoubtedly prevent many accidents, and materially reduce the loss of life and property in the State.

STATE SYSTEM OF EMPLOYMENT

Since October 1, 1919, the United States Employment Service, operating in this State, has been conducted under the direction and supervision of the Commissioner of Labor and Printing, who provided office quarters and served as Federal director for North Carolina without additional compensation. Funds were provided by the Government for clerical assistance and during the period from October 1, 1919, to the present time, between five and six thousand applicants for positions and jobs have been placed in situations satisfactory to them. Through the means of local financial assistance, the Service maintained offices in Asheville, Charlotte and Wilmington for almost a year. Since the employment office was established in this Department more than 20,000 returned soldiers have been communicated with in regard to employment and nearly 4,000 placed. It was through these communications that hundreds of disabled soldiers were located and reported to the Federal Board for Vocational Education, which placed them in proper training. The Employment Service seeks to serve all classes of employers and all classes of employees, and the need for a well organized system of employment in North Carolina was never more apparent than it is today. It brings the jobless man and the manless job together in a systematic way and provides means for the equitable distribution of labor throughout the territory over which it operates. The Federal Government has already expended the liberal sum of $45,000 in instituting and maintaining the Service in this Commonwealth, without a single dollar of financial assistance from the State itself. It has been demonstrated elsewhere that State control of employment agencies is the most effective way to properly regulate them and prevent impositions upon all parties concerned. It is, therefore, recommended that a State system of employment be added to the numerous agencies now in existence for the mutual benefit of our progressive citizenship.

CHILD LABOR LAW

The General Assembly of 1919 advanced a step forward by passage of an act which materially strengthens the child labor laws previously enacted. It does not, however, conform to the provisions of the Federal statute regulating the employment of children, and State officials are playing "second fiddle" to Government inspectors in the investigation of industrial conditions in North Carolina. It is perfectly apparent to this Department that the General Assembly would perform an act of wisdom in the framing and enactment of a child labor law which more nearly meets the needs of the present day.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY

It is the opinion of this Department that the eight-hour day should apply to adult as well as to child labor. "Man's powers, like his general nature, are limited, and beyond these limits he cannot go. His strength is developed and increased by use and exercise, but only on conditions of due intermission and proper rest. How many and how long the intervals of rest should be must depend on the nature of the work, on circumstances of time and place, and on the health and strength of the workman. The severity of physical labor, the dangers attending it, and work where great mental energy must be expended demand that the best possible conditions surround it, both as to hours of labor and compensation therefor; for the unanswerable reason that the life expectancy in such employments is in the nature of things limited to a short period of years."

IN CONCLUSION

North Carolina has done very little, through legislation, during its years of statehood towards the amelioration of the condition of the workingman, and these suggestions are submitted in the interest of common justice, with the hope that relief by legal compulsion will follow.

Respectfully submitted,

M. L. Shipman

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTORY

Four years ago the General Assembly changed the Report of the Department of Labor and Printing from an annual to a biennial publication, and it is now being issued in even years.

It has been especially difficult to secure a complete list of the factories this year, many of those reporting in former years having changed hands, some of them gone out of business, and some new ones having been established during the two years elapsing since the last investigation was made.

Chapter II, Farms and Farm Labor, shows, in Average Tables I and II, average number acres cultivated per farm in each county; increase or decrease in values; fertility; tendency toward larger or smaller farms and diversification of crops; labor conditions and wages paid. Tables III and IV show cost of production of various farm products; general condition of roads and favored methods of maintenance; educational and financial condition of farm labor.

Chapter III, The Trades, shows, in Table I, as of the years 1918 and 1920, averaged from all reports received, hours constituting day's labor in organized trades, union scale of wages, overtime rate, highest and lowest wages paid, percentage increase in wages; for the unorganized workers in the various trades, highest and lowest wages received as of date of report, and hours constituting day's labor at time of report; percentage increase in living cost. Table II shows number of workmen needed to supply demand in the respective trades, average age apprentices enter trades, average term of apprenticeship, percentage of literacy, regularity of employment, wage payment periods and payment periods preferred.

Chapter IV, Newspapers. Summary shows classification by period of publication and politics, and total circulation of each class. Table I shows list of papers by counties, editor and proprietor. Table II shows how published, day of publication, class, date of establishment and circulation. Table III shows value of plants, yearly pay-roll, kind of power used, horsepower, number of employees, wages, hours, etc.

Chapter V, Furniture Factories. Table I shows factories by counties, name of president, goods manufactured, year incorporated, capital stock. Table II shows number of days in operation during year, kind of power used, number of horsepower, hours constituting day's work, number of employees, per cent of literacy, estimated value of plant, estimated annual output, yearly pay-roll, etc.

Chapter VI, Knitting Mills. This division carries the same information relative to knitting mills as occurs under Chapter VII, with relation to cotton mills.

Chapter VII, Cotton, Woolen, Cordage, and Silk Mills. Table I shows mills by counties, executive officers, year established, capital stock, how product is marketed, name of selling agent. Table II shows whether mill spins or weaves, or both; class of goods made, number spindles, number looms, number cards; kind of power used, horsepower; approximate amount of raw material used; estimated yearly output; number days in operation during year. Table III shows number of employees, classified; hours, wages, and when paid; per cent of literacy; persons dependent on operation of factory for livelihood. Included under this head, but treated separately, will be found the woolen, silk, and cordage mills.

Chapter VIII, Miscellaneous Factories. Under this head are treated the establishments not falling under specific heads, that is to say, all manufacturing plants which do not show any one division of industry sufficiently large to require separate treatment. It has not been the purpose hitherto to enumerate herein sawmills, gristmills, or cotton gins, except as the magnitude of a single mill would seem to place it in the class of a factory; grinding mills have been classed as factories if they bought corn and wheat and sold flour, meal, or grits, but were not classed as factories when they ground for toll and sold no other product beyond toll earned. Sawmills doing a general lumber business have been classed as factories, while small mills, doing only a local business, were not. However, there has been no discrimination this year, although the list of institutions presented is complete only to the extent of facilities to make it so. Table I shows factories by counties, name of president and secretary or treasurer, article manufactured, capital, when established; and Table II shows estimated value of plant, value of output, time in operation, hours constituting day's work, kind of power used, number of horsepower, number of employees, classified; condition of labor market, per cent of literacy among employees.

Chapter IX, Railroads and Employees.

Chapter X, Water-Powers and Power Census.

APPENDIX

In this division of the report is given digest of workmen's compensation laws of various states and the labor laws of North Carolina.

CHAPTER II

FARMS AND FARM LABOR

The situation in relation to farms and farm labor as of the present date is more or less chaotic, and it is difficult to express an opinion that would be applicable to future developments.

The crops of the present year were produced under the higher wage rates prevailing early in the year, and under extreme scarcity of labor. While it may be said that farm labor is now available in reasonable quantity at a less wage than was paid for the production of the crops covered by this report, it is by no means to be said that farm labor is plentiful or cheap. As has been repeatedly pointed out in former issues of this publication, the farmers have put practically their entire productive capacity into the "money crops," with the result that they are now facing the apparent necessity of selling their product at figures distinctly lower than cost of production, in order to purchase food and feed stuffs at prices which have not felt the decline to such an extent as the articles they have and cannot afford to hold.

While it is to be expected that labor conditions will improve considerably in time to affect next year's crop, it is hardly probable that a proper distribution of labor will be effected before the cropping year of 1922.

The cheese industry has assumed creditable proportions and faces a future fraught with many possibilities.

In the present emergency an equitable distribution of the State's labor is essential. The coöperation of all citizens is needed in the effort to induce the unemployed to take up agricultural pursuits—a field in which the demand for help is generally far in excess of the supply. The shortage in farm labor is bound to be still more keenly felt unless some way can be found whereby the employers in cities and towns may join hands with the farmers in working out a just and equitable distribution of our labor supply.

Reports indicate that the value of land has increased in practically every county of the State during the last biennial period; that fertility in all has been maintained, and that labor has been scarce. Tendency towards smaller farms and more intensive farming in ninety-four; to larger ones in six. Ninety-eight counties report labor irregular and two regular. Public highways are reported good in twenty-one counties and fair in all the others; improving in ninety-six; getting "slightly better" in four. All the counties of the State report public opinion favorable to the construction and maintenance of public thoroughfares by methods of taxation.

Wage conditions show a healthy increase over previous reports. Present scale: Highest average paid men, per day, $3.37; lowest, $2.10; highest paid women, $2.05; lowest, $1.30. Average wages of children, $1.17. A general increase is noted in all the counties. The financial condition of wage-earners on the farms is reported good in forty-five counties, fair in fifty-five. Educational conditions good in twelve, fair in eighty-eight, improving in eighty-eight, slight advancement in twelve. On the whole, the educational and financial condition of agricultural workers shows marked improvement over that prevailing when the report of this Department was last issued. A tendency toward more favorable conditions for this class of workers is clearly apparent and will doubtless be met in a spirit of coöperation on every hand.

The tables following present the facts from which the deductions for this summary were taken.

CHAPTER III

THE TRADES

The data from which the tables of this chapter were compiled was furnished prior to the sudden industrial depression which descended upon the country in the early fall, and does not reflect the radical changes in conditions which have so soon resulted—changes so sudden and so radical that business finds it difficult to adjust itself to them. As of the date of these reports from the trades the demand for products far exceeded the supply. At this time there is a surplus of products which cannot be safely and profitably marketed, many manufacturing concerns are reducing their working forces and some plants have temporarily suspended operations.

It is believed, however, that there will be an early revival of business upon a stable and more satisfactory basis than has obtained for several years.

It was the purpose of the Department to secure reports from all trades in each locality giving data from which compilations might be made which would be informative as to local conditions in each community and particularly helpful to both employers and employees in and out of the State. The replies have not been sufficiently numerous and representative to make the original plan feasible. We are, therefore, giving averages for the various trades reporting.

All trades report regular employment except brickmasons, musicians, plasterers, stage employees, and structural iron workers—the nature of these employments precluding full-time work.

A shortage of men is indicated for the following: Carpenters, postoffice clerks, railway clerks, electricians, firemen, granite cutters, machinists, printers, photo-engravers, plumbers, and stage employees.

Eleven trades report overtime; 21 report none.

Average hours of labor in organized trades: 1918, $8\frac{5}{12}$, at \$5.31 highest and \$4.18 lowest average daily wage; 1920, $8\frac{3}{15}$ hours, at \$6.82 highest and \$5.59 lowest average daily wage. Unorganized workers: 1920, 9 hours, at \$5.81 highest and \$5.33 lowest average daily wage.

The increase in wages since 1918 is shown to have been 39 per cent, while the cost of living has increased 104 per cent.

Practically no dissatisfaction is shown with present periods of wage payments.

Twenty-one trades report 100 per cent literacy for both journeymen and apprentices; 11 show less than a perfect score—the average for the trades being, for journeymen 96 per cent, for apprentices 98 per cent.

The average age at which apprentices enter the trades is 17 years; average term of apprenticeship, $3\frac{9}{10}$ years.

CHAPTER IV

NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS

In this chapter is presented a list of the daily, weekly, semiweekly, monthly, semimonthly, quarterly and annual publications in operation at the close of the biennial period ending December 31, 1920. There have been numerous changes in the ownership and management of these newspapers and periodicals since the last report of the Department was issued. A score or more have suspended publication and the number of consolidations indicate a decided tendency towards fewer and larger papers.

The number of establishments reporting (including those which produce daily and weekly publications with the same equipment) is 280. A similar number reported for the previous biennial period, but the circulation has advanced from 1,127,497 to 1,314,642, an increase of 187,145.

The summary and tables following indicate the number and circulation of various publications and conditions under which they operate.

It may be noted here that a considerable number of the State's publications are printed by contract.

The value of plants reported by 197 establishments is $2,729,140. One hundred ninety-nine report the employment of 1,629 persons in various capacities. One hundred and seventy-one of these estimate an aggregate yearly pay-roll of $1,897,188. Highest average daily wage of establishments reporting is $5.54; the lowest average, $2.37. Average number of hours constituting a day's work, eight and fifty-eight minutes.

Electricity, gas, and gasoline predominate as motive power, but the use of small motors, or engines, only are required, and the aggregate number of horsepower in operation is comparatively small—1,035.

CHAPTER V

FURNITURE FACTORIES

As compared with the totals for the biennial period ending December 31, 1918, the number of establishments engaged in the manufacture of furniture, from which reports have been received, has increased from 89 to 124. The capital invested, number of persons employed, wages paid, and value of products have also been greatly in excess of those for the preceding biennial period covered by the 1918 (thirty-first) report of this Department. The period of depression which affected the furniture industry during the war continued for a time after the cessation of hostilities and reappeared shortly before the close of the last fiscal year. Many factories were completely closed for weeks, but there has been a general resumption of full-time operations and this important branch of the State's industries shows unmistakable signs of resuscitation and steady advancement.

Conclusions drawn from correlated reports show the actual and authorized investment of capital in the furniture industry to be $14,790,322.77. Value of plants, $14,761,625; value of yearly output, $32,106,739; yearly pay-roll, $7,334,310; total horse-power employed, 14,478.

In the operation of the establishments reporting 9,299 persons are employed, of which number 8,721 are men, 418 are women and 160 are children. The highest average daily wage paid men was $4.74, lowest $2.52. Highest average paid women $1.96, lowest $1.51. Wages are paid weekly and semimonthly.

Sixty-one of the plants use steam in driving their machinery, twenty-nine employ electricity, seventeen steam and electric, one steam and water, one water and electric, and fifteen operate by hand.

The average number of hours worked per day, nine and three-quarters; week, fifty-nine hours.

CHAPTER VI

KNITTING MILLS

The hosiery and knit-goods industry of North Carolina is one of the most rapidly growing branches of the textile group. There is now no necessity for the imported article, for the machinery has been improved to such an extent that it is possible to produce right here at home articles of the finest quality demanded by the most exacting consumer. The constantly increasing variety of the products of this industry requires many different classes of help and opens opportunities for the wage-earners of which they never dreamed prior to the invention of knitting machinery.

There has been a noticeable expansion in this industry the past two years, as evidenced by the statistics, but it does not necessarily follow that the manufacturers have encountered no obstacles in the operation of their plants. The demand for their capacity output experienced during the year 1919 and the first half of 1920 has not since been maintained; extraordinary fluctuations in the price of raw materials have prevailed; the wage scale, also, has been unstable, and various other causes have kept manufacturers in a state of perplexity. However, depressing times are passing; many plants which shut down a little while ago are resuming operations, and the knitting industry looks to the future with hope and confidence.

The total number of mills reporting is 169, an increase of 38 over the report for 1918. The capital authorized and employed has increased from $10,262,285 in 1918 to $31,144,466 this year. The estimated value of yearly output reported by 117 mills is $21,263,571. Number of spindles employed 216,782; knitting machines, 20,444; sewing machines, 1,128; number horsepower, 22,338; number employees, adults: male, 5,775; female, 9,443; children (under sixteen), 1,275. Total number employed, 16,493. Number dependent on mills for a livelihood, 29,416.

Highest average daily wage paid men is reported to be $5.60; lowest average, $2.61. Highest average paid women, $4.35; lowest, $1.80.

Sixteen mills report the use of steam for power; 106 employ electricity exclusively; 15 steam and electricity; one, steam and water; two, water; and the remainder generate their power from internal combustion engines.

The number of hours constituting a day's work is ten; week, 60 hours.

CHAPTER VII

COTTON, WOOLEN, CORDAGE, AND SILK MILLS

An index to the industrial progress of the State the past two years is furnished by the continued growth of the cotton mill industry. Industrially, North Carolina has rapidly advanced to that position of output and prosperity where continued expansion will be controlled only by basic limitations. No fact relating to the advancement of the State is more interesting, more important, or more significant to the student of social and economic conditions in North Carolina than the vigor, the persistency, and the success that has followed the introduction of this branch of manufacture. The last biennial period has witnessed the usual development of the textile industry.

The number of mills represented in these compilations is 377, an increase of 46 since this publication was issued two years ago. Of this number, 339 report $166,614,466 invested and authorized in plant operations. The number of spindles reported is 5,255,320; looms, 72,514; cards, 12,119; and the number of horsepower utilized at regular intervals was 218,883. The approximate amount of raw material used was 305,260,316 pounds. Estimated value of yearly output, $237,980,155. Adult males employed, 40,476; females, 26,493; children, 6,623. Total number employees, 73,592. Estimated number of dependents intimately associated with the cotton mill industry in the capacity of wage-earners and their families is 214,843.

The extent to which an industry gives employment and the amount which it pays in wages is a better test of its importance in many instances than the capital it requires, the cost of materials, the value of products, or even the added value through the process of manufacture. The wage-earners in all branches of the textile industry of the State, combined, present a formidable array of men, women and children. The number of each class reported for the period covered by this report shows a healthy increase over the previous two years. The wage level is also higher, but this condition may not be maintained in the immediate future on account of business depression which appeared during the latter part of 1920. The highest average wages paid males during the last biennial period is $6.56 per day; females, $4.23. Lowest average for males, $2.92; females, $2.46. A large proportion of the mills pay wages weekly; the remainder semimonthly.

One hundred eighty-four establishments report the use of electric power; forty employ steam; sixty use steam and electricity; twenty-one steam and water; eleven electric and water; sixteen, steam, water, and electric; sixteen generate their power with water, and twenty-nine overlooked this item in reporting their activities.

One hundred twenty of the mills reporting employ both spindles and looms; two hundred thirteen spin only; eight report the use of looms only, and a considerable number do bleaching and finishing.

Estimated unemployment in the textile industry of the State at the time this report goes to press is small in comparison to conditions reported from other sections of the country. This is due to the fact that both day and night forces have been maintained, although on short time, which has enabled the operators to hold out the hope of full-time operations when market conditions show improvement.

Below will be found the tables of figures relating to various details of the industry.

Three silk mills report with a capital of $2,006,000. They report the use of 60,820 spindles, 477 looms, 772 horsepower—one mill using electricity; one steam and electricity.

The approximate amount of raw material used is 253,165 pounds, with an estimated value of yearly output of $1,799,964, from the reports of two mills.

The total number of employees is 874. Of these 315 are males, 495 females, and 64 children. The highest average wage paid males, $6.14; the lowest average, $3.20; the highest average paid females is $3.94; the lowest average paid females, $1.77.

Average time constituting a day's work is 10 hours and 30 minutes.

WOOLEN MILLS

The number of woollen mills shown is nine, with a total capital (reported by four), $1,680,920. These mills use 8,884 spindles, 422 looms, 42 cards, 4 knitting machines, and employ 970 horsepower. The approximate amount of raw material used is 2,342,800 pounds, the estimated value of the yearly output being $3,334,634.

The total number of persons employed is 951. Of this number 621 are males, 318 females, and 12 children. The highest average paid males is $4.97; the lowest average, $2.56; the highest average paid females is $4.66; the lowest average, $2.03.

The average length of a day's work is ten hours.

Two mills report the use of steam for power, one water, one electric, one water and steam, and one steam and electric.

Estimated number dependent on mills for livelihood, 1,859.

CHAPTER VIII

MISCELLANEOUS FACTORIES

This chapter of the report relates to industrial enterprises other than Cotton, Woolen, Cordage, Silk and Knitting Mills, and Furniture Factories covered by preceding chapters. The industries are listed by counties and postoffices alphabetically for the convenience of the public, and a classified list appears in the appendix to this volume.

The collection of information relative to these factories has been done in collaboration with the United States Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, to the officers of which the State is indebted for numerous courtesies and much assistance. In each case where the Census Bureau has furnished data it has been done with the express consent of the party reporting, though not quite all of the establishments reporting to the Government gave their consent to the use of the information by this Department. For this reason the reports of the two departments may not present the same result, although the difference will be slight. Much difficulty has been experienced in deciphering names, and the Department does not claim perfection in this regard.

The progress North Carolina is making in an industrial way is indeed remarkable, and while this report deals largely with the condition of wage-earners, the Department is endeavoring to convey, in addition thereto, such information as will enable the public to obtain a reasonably accurate conception of the number and class of factories now in operation within the State. The list presented herewith is practically correct, and the deductions worked out show that North Carolina has taken high rank as an industrial center. The number of returns used in this compilation is greatly in excess of that of any previous report, and indicate a greater variety of establishments.

The total number of miscellaneous concerns reporting this year is 5,582, and returns from these indicate an investment of $699,802,985. The estimated value of plants reported by 5,536 factories is $249,390,668; estimated value of yearly output, $462,247,078. Owners report the operation of many of the smaller plants and include no pay-roll in their estimates. Establishments to the number of 4,945 report an aggregate yearly pay-roll of $71,685,972. Number horsepower employed by 5,177 aggregates 261,037.

The number of persons employed in the operation of these industries at a given time during the last biennial period was 84,086, of which 74,551 were males, 9,324 females, and 208 children. Eighty-five per cent of employees read and write. Highest average daily wage paid adult males, $4.96; lowest, $2.70. Highest average daily wage paid females, $3.08; lowest, $2.15. Wages are paid weekly, semimonthly, and monthly. Ten hours constitute a day's work; week, sixty hours.

Three thousand one hundred eighty-two factories use steam for power; 1,023 employ electric current; 398 internal combustion; 101 steam and electric; 364 water; 261 steam and water; 16 steam, electric and water; steam and gasoline, 40; gas and electric, 31. A portion of these plants are of a character not requiring power (such as marble yards, etc.).

In the tables following this summary will be found the detailed information from which these conclusions have been drawn. In the classified list, appearing in the Appendix, those interested will find references to specific articles of manufacture and a convenient directory to the entire miscellaneous list.

RAILROADS AND EMPLOYEES

Interstate railroads operating in the State report number of employees* for the entire system, instead of for that part of the road operating in North Carolina, which makes it impracticable to show operatives by localities.

In the following table will be found the number of each class of employees, the figures being for the combined roads, together with the total compensation for each class.

* From reports made to the North Carolina Corporation Commission.

CHAPTER X

WATER-POWERS AND POWER CENSUS

INTRODUCTION

By JOSEPH HYDE PRATT, Director N. C. Geological and Economic Survey

The North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey is carrying on a power census of the industries of the State. This is being done in coöperation with the United States Geological Survey and the State Department of Labor and Printing. The census will provide accurate information as to the present status of power use and power needs in the State, knowledge of which is prefatory to investigations by the Survey to determine the availability of definite water-power resources which may be developed to meet present power demands. The census will show the amounts of power used by all manufacturing establishments; the kinds of power, whether steam, oil or electric; the character of all hydro-electric developments; the source from which power is purchased; the amount of additional power required; and whether existing agencies are able to supply it. When this data is compiled the Survey will be in a position to investigate those districts where a dearth of power exists for the purpose of showing the location and amounts of any water-powers, together with conditions relating to economic development.

THE WATER-POWER SITUATION IN NORTH CAROLINA

By THORNDIKE SAVILLE*

A sudden metamorphosis has occurred in North Carolina within the past decade, by which the State has moved from twenty-third to about tenth place in value of its industries and from the nineteenth to about fourth in value of crops, as well as becoming the greatest industrial State in the South. Accompanying this has come a tremendous demand for power to meet the needs of our growing industries. This has been met in large part by the creation of a gigantic water-power business. Nowhere east of the Rocky Mountains is so large a proportion of the total power for industrial use supplied by hydro-electric developments. Even so, there is a dearth of power in the State today, and the hydro-electric industry is bound to be greatly extended within the next decade.

The water resources of the State are vast, but by no means limitless.

* Associate Professor of hydraulic and sanitary engineering, University of North Carolina, Hydraulic Engineer, N. C. Geological and Economic Survey.

Conservation of these, unlike the conservation of most natural resources, is by a maximum judicious use. The more water resources are used, the more valuable they become. By conservation through judicious use is meant this, that it is vitally important that we attempt to correlate the several uses of water and make our developments on a basis of maximum utility to the people of the State. "We have only to contemplate the situation into which the opportunist development has brought us as regards our coal, our oil, our gas, our water-power, our transportation systems, and our forests, to realize that most of this waste, delays and difficulties which characterize the situation are due simply to lack of planning years in advance, and to our failure to embody in a coördinated general plan those lines of action which are well recognized by experts as vitally essential to our proper development as an industrial nation."

This means that in order to obtain maximum utilization from the water-power still unused, we must have some comprehensive thought and plan for their economic development, as part of a great system. To do this does not mean encroaching upon the rights of individuals, or lessening the legitimate profits from industrial ventures, but it does mean a consideration of the entire problem from every possible angle as it bears on the public welfare.

To discover the present distribution and concentration of power development in this State, and the exact situation as to power output and power needs, the State Geological Survey, in coöperation with the United States Geological Survey and the Department of Labor and Printing, is now conducting a power census, covering total amount of power used, whether water-power, steam, or oil; type of installation; number of wheels; height of dam; use for power, method of using power, i.e., whether machinery is direct connected, belt drive, or by individual motors; whether power is purchased, and, if so, from what source; whether more power is needed, and, if so, whether it can be purchased. Very comprehensive data is being obtained as to the power situation in the State. When the census is completed the shortage of power will be known, and the location of markets for new power. The Survey will then be in a position to investigate immediately the water-power resources of those districts where the power shortage is most acute, and advise to what extent new water-power can be advantageously developed. If sufficient water-power cannot be economically developed, other methods will be outlined for supplying power needs.

STATUS OF DEVELOPED POWER

Until this census is completed exact figures as to water-power development in the State are not available. From the best data at hand the present water-power development is approximately as given in Table I. The total is probably correct to within a very few per cent.

TABLE I

		Total Horsepower
Southern Power Company
Bridgewater	30,000
Lookout Shoals	33,000
	<hr/>	63,000
Carolina Power and Light Company
Blewitt Falls	32,150
Buckhorn Falls	3,350
	<hr/>	35,500
Aluminum Company of America (Tallassee Power Co.)
Badin	93,000
Narrows of Yadkin.....	20,000
Cheoah	72,000
	<hr/>	185,000
Blue Ridge Power Company
Tuxedo	8,000
	<hr/>	8,000

Manufacturing Plants, Census of 1914.....		41,181
Estimated Manufacturing Developments since 1914.....		5,277
Total horsepower		360,000

Of a total of 360,000 horsepower, 80,000 horsepower, or 32 per cent, is transmitted for use outside the State, and 113,000 horsepower at Badin, or 31 per cent, is used in the local reduction of aluminum. The remaining 167,000 horsepower available for general industrial and public use amounts to only 46 per cent of the total developed in the State. Of this approximately 45,000 horsepower is developed and used for private manufacturing establishments in relatively small units. Practically there is available for general use only the power developed by the public utility companies, amounting to about 135,000 horsepower. Of the latter the Southern Power Company and the Carolina Power and Light Company develop 98,500 horsepower, or 73 per cent, which is 27 per cent of the total of the developed power in the State. Some proportion of the 41,000 horsepower used by manufacturers is also controlled by these companies.

GROWTH OF POWER USE

Until the power census now being conducted is completed it is practically impossible even to estimate the use of power in North Carolina. In a number of instances large industries have been kept away from the State during the past year because the hydro-electric companies could furnish them no power. These same hydro-electric companies obtain large amounts of power from installations in South Carolina. The demand for power at present cannot be met, and it is insistent and increasing. We do not know at present the exact facts concerning any of these matters. To plan intelligently and safely for the future industrial needs of the State, we must have this information.

Some idea of the growth of power use in the State is contained in Table II, compiled from statistics of the United States Geological Survey and amplified by the North Carolina Geological Survey. This table shows the pronounced trend toward increased output from electric generating stations in this State.

A study of Table II will show the following data:

1. The total output of public utility stations in North Carolina has increased 16 per cent from 1919 to 1920.

2. The output by water-power in North Carolina has increased 26 per cent from 1919 to 1920.

3. The output by fuel has decreased 28 per cent from 1919 to 1920.

4. The relative amount of total power generated by water-power was 89 per cent in 1919 and 93 per cent in 1920.

*Estimated output.

5. The relative amount of power by water-power and steam has remained essentially constant, at about 90%, showing that water-power use has kept pace with industrial growth, with increased use of electric power.

On Figure 2 is plotted the output from public utility generating stations in Virginia, North and South Carolina, and Georgia from 1907 to 1920, inclusive. In all these States except Virginia the output by water-power is more than 80 per cent of the total. It is evident from this, as well as from other considerations, that water-power plays now and will play in the near future a predominant part in power production. This condition will greatly simplify the development of a southeastern super-power system, and make it more quickly available and less expensive than the proposed northeastern system now being investigated from Boston to Washington. This arises from the fact that the present power is concentrated into relatively few large installations, already interconnected in fact if not in use. In the new hydro-electric developments large units will similarly predominate, and the interconnection of these with existing stations and new smaller stations can readily be accomplished. For this reason, in the Southeastern super-power investigations now being inaugurated by the Atlanta Section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers consideration of hydro-electric developments should be and is given far greater weight than in the more detailed and elaborate undertaking in the Northeastern States.

Figure 2 indicates the rate of increase of total power output of the southeastern States. North Carolina has rapidly surpassed her neighboring States in the output of electrical power, which is an index of the industrial expansion noted previously. It seems hardly possible that this rate of increase, amounting to over 25 per cent per year, can be maintained over a ten-year period in the future. No estimate of future growth based on population will serve, since the past growth indicates that the rate of increase in power output greatly exceeds and bears no relation to the increase in population, even in industrial districts. It seems reasonably conservative to estimate an average annual rate of increase of 10 per cent in power output from 1920 to 1930. Moreover, the total increase would amount in 1930 to only 160 per cent of the present output, whereas in the ten years from 1907 to 1917 the power output increased 2700 per cent.

ESTIMATED HORSEPOWER REQUIRED IN 1930 TO SUPPLY INDUSTRIAL DEMANDS IN NORTH CAROLINA

Total output in 1920=757,303,000 kw. hr. (U. S. G. S. data for Public Utility Plants only.*)

Output in 1919 was approximately 652,775,000 kw. hr. Thus there has been an increase of 104,528,000 kw. hr. in the past year, or about 16%.

Assuming an annual increase of only 10% per year between 1920, 1925 and 1930, gives from electric generating stations in:

1925—1,219,645,000 kw. hr., and in 1930—1,964,250,000 kw. hr.

The output of electrical energy by water power alone in North Carolina by central stations in 1920 was 706,961,000 kw. hr., and was 93% of the total output.

The installed horsepower of these plants was 228,000 horsepower. Thus

$$\frac{706,961,000}{228,000} = 3,101 \text{ kw. hrs. per horsepower per year.}$$

One horsepower per year of 300 operating days = $\frac{0.746 \times 24 \times 300}{3,101} = 5,371$ kw. hr. This gives an annual capacity factor of $\frac{5,371}{5,371} = 0.58$. Assume in 1930 a capacity factor of 0.60. Then output per installed horsepower will be $5371 \times 0.60 = 3223$ kw. hr.

*Data on output from public utility plants is taken from U. S. G. S. statistics of 1920 and here includes the plant of the Tallahassee Power Company at Badin. Beginning in 1921 the U. S. G. S. omits this plant from public utility plants in North Carolina, and has revised its 1920 statistics accordingly. The output of public utility stations alone in 1920 was 259,708,000 kw. hr., of which 80 per cent was generated by water power.

There will be needed in 1925 by central stations only:

1,219,645,000

$\times .95 = 359,500$ horsepower, and in 1930

3223

1,964,250,000

$\times .95 = 579,000$ horsepower assuming output by

3223

waterpower increases from 93% to 95% of the total output.

228,000 h. p.

In 1920 generating stations reporting output were about $\frac{228,000}{360,000} =$

360,000 h. p.

0.63=63% of total installed horsepower.

359,500

Therefore total installed horsepower required in 1925 = $\frac{359,500}{0.63} = 570,000$

0.63

579,000

h. p., and total installed horsepower required in 1930 = $\frac{579,000}{0.63} = 919,000$ h. p.

0.63

Since present installed horsepower in North Carolina is about 360,000, there must be a gain of $570,000 - 360,000 = 210,000$ horsepower installed before 1925 and of $919,000 - 360,000 = 559,000$ horsepower installed before 1930, an increase of 160% in the next ten years.

This indicates additional capacity assumed necessary to be installed somewhere to supply hydro-electric energy to North Carolina. It is based on the following three assumptions:

(1) That demand for power increases at 10% per year, as compared with an increase of 16% between 1919 and 1920.

(2) That ratio of hydro-electric power to total power increases from 93% to 95%.

(3) That capacity factor for all plants is the same as for public utility plants.

The figures representing total output of power in 1930 as 1,964,250,000 kw. hr. are believed to be fairly representative of what the power demands are likely to be then. But that these will be met by any proportional increase in installed water-power up to a million horse-power is regarded at this time as doubtful. That amount of undeveloped power undoubtedly exists in this State, but it seems probable that some part of the increased power demand will be met most economically by extra-state power, generated at very large stations in nearby states, and transmitted through interconnected systems to this and adjoining states.

Notwithstanding this, it is clear that the great demand for power in the next decade will tax the water-power resources of the State to the utmost; and in this engineers are interested from two points of view: first, where are the available undeveloped water-powers located, and, second, how can they be most economically developed?

SOURCE OF WATER POWER

It is folly to assert that North Carolina possesses sufficient undeveloped water-power to meet the needs of industry for the next fifty years, or for any definite period in the future. Expressed in terms of potential power, this may be true, but a large proportion of that power cannot be economically developed under conditions which exist now or are likely to exist in the near future. For the period in advance with which we are concerned, coal or other fuel must continue to play an important part as auxiliary to many water-power developments in this State. Any investigation of undeveloped water-powers must recognize at the outset that this power can only be developed with a maximum of efficiency and economy by considering the inter-relation of the three important factors of storage, steam auxiliary, and interconnection.

Table III shows the relative amounts of water-power in the various states of the Union. It is seen that North Carolina with 2.07 per cent of the total has 8.9 per cent of that east of the Mississippi, being exceeded among these states only by New York. Many estimates have been made by diverse authorities upon the potential water-power resources of the State. The mere statement that North Carolina possesses 1,000,000 horsepower in potential power means nothing unless data are given as to what assumptions have been made in obtaining that figure. Some authorities will state that the total flow of the streams is so many cubic feet, the total fall between certain districts so many feet, and that there results so much potential power. This is quite misleading, since a large amount of the total fall of a stream cannot be utilized by power developments, and many good sites are located on streams so remote from present industrial centers that transmission costs preclude their development. Moreover, a large amount of potential power in this State is contained on small streams, the development of which is not economical under the present conditions of power generation and power market. Doubtless, in the next ten years the value of power will make economic development possible on many small streams not now available. For this reason, the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey in its district investigations of water-power lists many potential powers of from 500 to 4,000 horsepower which may later be a valuable addition to the power supply.

The most commonly accepted estimates of potential power are those presented by the United States Geological Survey, based upon 90 per cent of the total available fall and 90 per cent of efficiency of turbines. No doubt, at some future time, with increase in value of power and improvement in hydro-electric machinery, these estimates may obtain. Under present conditions they are unquestionably too great. These estimates give the minimum potential power of North Carolina as 610,000 horsepower and the maximum as 1,000,000 horsepower. In a later report by the United States Department of Agriculture in 1916 more conservative figures were given based on a utilization of 75 per cent of the theoretically available water-power as calculated by the United States Geological Survey. These figures probably represent more nearly what may actually be developed.

The minimum power is based on the average minimum flow for the two lowest periods of seven consecutive days in each year for seven years, and does not represent the actual minimum flow obtaining for a single day. Such a low flow is of too short duration to affect a power development.

The "maximum" power is based on continuous power indicated by the flow of a stream for the six months of the year (not necessarily consecutive) showing the highest flow during a period of seven years. This is the basis used by the United States Geological Survey in calculating the water-power resources of the States of the Union. It unduly favors those western states having from 85 per cent to 90 per cent of the total rainfall in those six months, since for the remaining six months often there is practically no stream flow at all. Development for the maximum six months run-off in the West is dependent on enormous storage, much greater than needed for the same run-off in the eastern states. Modern practice in power projects indicates a tendency to develop for this maximum six months run-off, and consequently the "maximum" power indicates more nearly what power may be economically developed by water-power with steam auxiliary. The "maximum power with storage" is a quantity dependent upon the volume of water that may be impounded by a reservoir and used to carry the plant over periods of deficient flow. It is thus variable for every stream and each development, and is presented merely as an approximate estimate. From the experience of the authorities quoted above and from its own investigations the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey estimates the potential water-power resources of the State as follows:

Minimum potential water-power.....	578,000 horsepower
Maximum potential water-power.....	875,000 "
Maximum power with storage.....	2,000,000 "

Of this power, 360,000 horsepower is now being used. The Southern Power Company contemplates a new development on the Catawba River of 80,000 horsepower, and the Tallassee Power Company has provision for adding 41,000 horsepower at Badin and 25,000 horsepower at Cheoah. In addition, the latter company has plans under way to develop 200,000 horsepower on the Little Tennessee River. Of all this, only 23 per cent, the horsepower of the Southern Power Company, will be generally available.

A distinction should be drawn between potential power and that economically available. Doubtless within the next twenty or thirty years many water-power sites not now considered possible of economical development may become of great value with increase in cost of coal and new inventions in generation and transmission of power. At present, however, a considerable proportion of the theoretical undeveloped potential power is not economically usable. It is proper, therefore, that states should classify their undeveloped water-powers in accordance with the availability for development during a reasonably near period.

Of the potential power now undeveloped there is probably some 250,000 horsepower available at sites suitable for economical construction and not under the control of any of the larger power companies. This eliminates, for instance, the Little Tennessee. The North Carolina Geological Survey has investigated sites in Wilkes and Surry counties totalling some 40,000 continuous horsepower, ranging in installations of from 500 horsepower to 20,000 horsepower capacity. The Survey is carrying on similar investigations as funds permit. Large available undeveloped powers remain on the Hiwassee, Nottely, French Broad, Watauga, Toe, and new rivers in Western North Carolina and on the Yadkin, Deep, and Cape Fear rivers in Central North Carolina. Investigations are now in progress on some of these streams through coöperation with county or local authorities.

USE OF POWER

The water-power resources of the State are by no means inexhaustible. Their effective and economic use depends upon the three factors of steam auxiliary, storage, and interconnection. All of these are closely related to the load factor.

Load factor is much talked about and is important in discussions of output and operation of generating stations. It is a term frequently not understood by layman and engineer not concerned with power studies. "The load factor of a machine, plant or system is the ratio of the average power (output) to the maximum power (output) during a certain period of time. The average power is taken over a relatively long period of time, as a day or a year, while the maximum is taken over a short interval of the maximum load during that period." Thus, if the average daily load on a plant is 300 kw., while during a half-hour of maximum demand the peak load is 900 kw., then the load factor for a half-hour is $33\frac{1}{3}$ per cent. Since there must be a machinery installation (in an isolated plant) sufficient to carry the peak load, it is evident that during the major portion of the day a large part of the machinery is idle. By interconnecting the plant with other plants whose peak load may come at a different time, or by purchasing power from an interconnected system during peak load, or by improving the load conditions through diversity of demand, the load factor may be increased. Each and all of these results in far greater economy of operation, and less idle machinery for less time.

Steam Auxiliary.—On most North Carolina streams storage is difficult to obtain, and is frequently not sufficient to fully develop even the average flow of the stream. Recourse must be had to steam auxiliary plants. Most effectively these should be central station plants, interconnected with the hydro-electric system and with surplus equipment to be used during times of deficient hydro-electric output. For the proper utilization of large steam generating stations considerable quantities of cheap water are needed for condensing purposes. The Survey is prepared to aid in locating such supplies. They are especially adapted to stations on the Coastal Plain where ground-water may be available.

Storage.—The success of a hydro-electric project is in direct proportion to continuous operation of all its hydraulic installation. This is affected by load factor and availability of sufficient water to meet all demands for power. The latter is afforded by storage reservoirs to supply the deficiency of dry seasons. This factor is also related to that of flood prevention and navigation. The proper development and use of storage is all too frequently neglected in this State. It is a short-sighted policy which allows first cost of flood rights to outweigh economic gain from large storage. The benefits are so great in so many ways that a great deal of preliminary detailed study can be well afforded. It is proper that some State and National body be charged with the correlation of the various factors influenced by storage reservoirs. The Federal Power Commission looks after this matter for the Government and the State Geological and Economic Survey for the State.

Interconnection.—Individual public-service central stations and many manufacturing establishments are, as a rule, unable to maintain a load factor in excess of 20 or 25. By interconnection of units excess power from regions having an abundance of flow may be transmitted to sections of deficient flow, or a peak load at one place may be met with power from another place where the peak load occurs at a different time. The load factor may be thus greatly improved. This makes for large increase in efficiency, and is the basis of the Super-Power Survey now being conducted for the northeastern seaboard. A movement is now under way in the South Atlantic states to carry on a similar investigation, and the Survey is representing North Carolina in this study. Interconnection has already been carried to a high degree in this region, but many of the smaller central stations and isolated plants are still units by themselves. Interconnection will result in economy of operation and conservation of coal, and is greatly to be desired.

There is one important adjunct of successful water-power development in the South which has received altogether too little attention. This is the matter of engineering studies and investigations. In the North and West, it may be asserted, there are few hydro-electric plants of any considerable size which have not received a far greater degree of scientific study than those of similar magnitude in the South. Particularly is this true as relates to purely scientific investigations, of rainfall, stream flow, and evaporation.

Intensity records of rainfall, which are of such great importance in their relation to floods and to design of spillways and storm sewerage systems, are kept at only five stations in the State, and only two of these (Charlotte and Asheville) are located in the vicinity of any water-power projects.

Stream discharge stations have been maintained on the principal streams of the State for a number of years through the coöperation of the United States and North Carolina Geological Surveys. In other states in the South the power companies have seemed to recognize better the great value of stream gaging, and have coöperated in paying the expenses of making such measurements. A great deal of valuable data could be collected in this State by similar coöperation.

The records which we have vary in length from a few gagings to complete records for twenty-four years. There are, however, few long time records, and on many streams there is not even a record for a whole year. The runoff from the mountain streams, where high heads and relatively constant flow occur, is especially lacking. The design of all water-power projects is dependent upon stream-flow records, and the longer the record the more valuable it is in providing a basis for proper design. Many more gaging stations are needed in the State, and both the United States and State Geological Surveys have requested additional funds for this purpose. It is, however, very difficult to persuade the average legislator of the importance of such work.

During the past summer the State Survey located three new gaging stations upon the Upper Yadkin River and its tributaries, and the United States Army engineers engaged in the Tennessee River Survey have established a number of new stations on Western North Carolina rivers draining to the Tennessee. The North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey will shortly issue a supplement to its Bulletin 20, bringing down to date all the data available in the State relating to stream gagings.

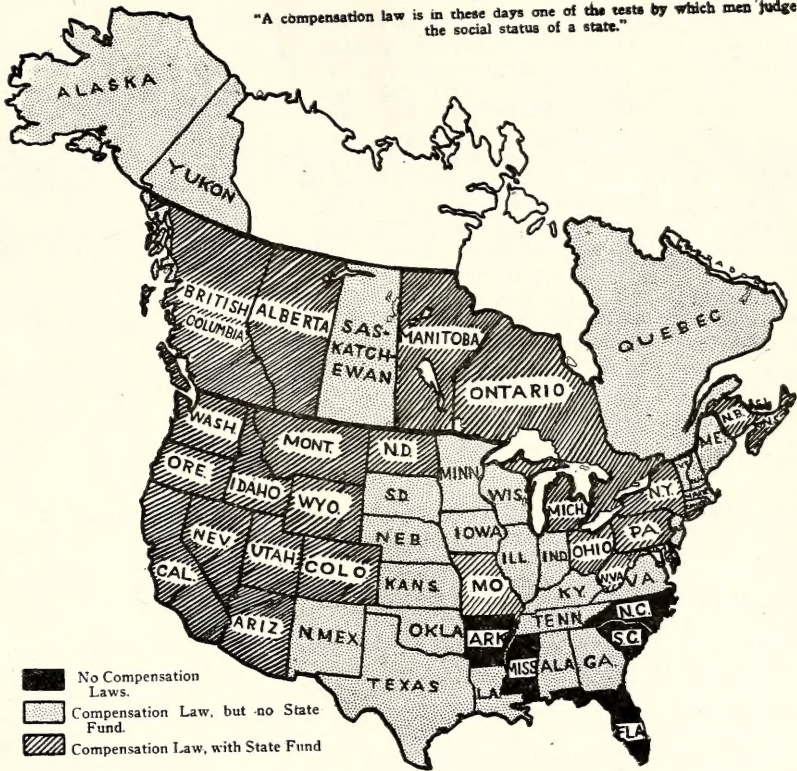

The importance of storage and the large part it must play in economic utilization of power has been mentioned elsewhere. Of prime importance in storage studies is the amount of evaporation for which to provide. No pan measurements have ever been recorded in the southern states for a period of a single year. In the North and West again we find quite a sufficiency of data, but here the engineer can only make a poor guess. As a beginning, the State Geological Survey in coöperation with the University has established an evaporation station at Chapel Hill, and measurements will begin by the middle of March. This is a land station, and consequently the data compiled can only be used approximately for computing evaporation from water surfaces. If only the power companies would coöperate in placing a few pans on their larger reservoirs much valuable information might be obtained with little expenditure of money or time.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAWS

"A compensation law is in these days one of the tests by which men judge the social status of a state."

Workmen's compensation laws, the first of which was enacted in 1911, are now in force in all but five of the United States and in all but one of the Canadian Provinces. The Federal and Dominion Governments also provide such protection for their own civilian employees.

The tendency of this legislation is to cover all employments except farm labor and domestic service, but some laws still limit compensation to so-called "hazardous" employments.

Medical care is usually provided at the expense of the employer.

In twenty-nine states and eight provinces there is a "waiting period" of seven days or less immediately following the injury, during which no compensation is paid. Thereafter under the Maine, Manitoba, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio and Ontario laws, as well as under the Federal law, compensation for disability is 66 2/3 per cent of wages. In Arizona, California, Illinois (sliding scale), Kentucky and Wisconsin compensation is fixed at 65 per cent; while in Alabama (sliding scale), Hawaii, Idaho (sliding scale), Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Michigan Nevada, Pennsylvania, Texas, and Utah it is 60 per cent. Elsewhere it is still as low as 55 per cent.

Under the Federal law, in death cases, the widow receives 35 per cent of her husband's wages, with 10 per cent in addition for each child, the total never to exceed 66 2/3 per cent. With variations a number of other states follow this general plan. •

Most laws allow, in addition, about $100 for burial.

In all states and provinces, except Alabama, Alaska, Kansas, Quebec, Saskatchewan and Yukon, payment of compensation is made certain by requiring employers to insure their risk, and eighteen states and six provinces have established state funds to provide insurance at cost.

To administer workmen's compensation acts, industrial accident boards have been established in all states and provinces except Alabama, Alaska, Kansas, Louisiana, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Wyoming, Quebec, Saskatchewan, and Yukon.

Congress recently provided for federal-state co-operation in the work of rehabilitating injured workmen. Nearly half of the states have already taken advantage of this provision for vocational rehabilitation.

Measures to extend the benefits of Federal workmen's compensation legislation to seamen and State workmen's compensation laws to longshoremen are now pending in Congress.

LABOR LAWS OF NORTH CAROLINA

[SECTION NUMBERS HAVE REFERENCE TO SECTIONS OF CONSOLIDATED STATUTES
OF NORTH CAROLINA, 1919.]

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND PRINTING

7309. Creation and officials of department. A department of labor and printing is hereby created and established. The duties of the department shall be exercised and discharged by a commissioner, who shall be designated as commissioner of labor and printing, and an assistant commissioner, who shall be appointed by the commissioner, and who shall be a practical printer.

Rev., s. 3909; 1919, c. 314, s. 4.

7310. Commissioner and assistant commissioner. The commissioner shall be elected by the people in the same manner as is provided for the election of the secretary of state. His term of office shall be four years. The office of the department shall be kept in the city of Raleigh and same shall be provided for as are other public offices of the state. The assistant commissioner shall perform the duties of the commissioner in his absence from office or in case of a vacancy therein.

Rev., ss. 3909, 3910; 1919, c. 314, s. 4.

7311. Duties and powers of commissioner. The commissioner, aided by the assistant commissioner, shall collect and collate information and statistics concerning labor and its relation to capital, the hours of labor, the earnings of laborers and their educational, moral and financial condition, and the best means of promoting their mental and moral material welfare; shall also collect and collate information and statistics concerning the various mining, milling and manufacturing industries in this state, their location, capacity and actual output of manufactured products, the kind and quantity of raw material annually used by them and the capital invested therein; shall also collect and collate information and statistics concerning the location, estimated and actual horse-power and conditions of valuable water-powers, developed and undeveloped, in this state; also concerning farm lands and farming, the kinds, character and quantity of the annual farm products in this state; also of timber lands and timbers, truck gardening, dairying, and such other information and statistics concerning the agricultural and industrial welfare of the citizens of this state as he may deem to be of interest and benefit to the public, and shall also perform the duties of mine inspector as prescribed in the chapter entitled Mines; and shall have the powers and perform the duties in relation to the public printing that are set forth in this chapter.

Rev., s. 3910; 1897, c. 251; 1899, c. 373, ss. 3, 4; 1899, c. 622, ss. 1, 2; 1901, c. 280, s. 2; 1901, c. 401, s. 2.

7312. Official reports. The commissioner shall annually publish a report, embodying therein such information and statistics as he may deem expedient and proper, which report shall be printed and paid for by the state just as the reports of other public officers are printed and paid for. The number of copies of such report to be printed to be designated by the commissioner. The distribution of the reports will be paid for from the general fund and not from the appropriation. The commissioner shall send or cause to be sent a copy of the report to every newspaper in this state and a copy to each member of the general assembly; a copy to each of the several state and county officers; a copy to each labor organization in the state, and a copy to any citizen who may apply for the same either in person or by mail, and he may also send a copy to such officers of other states and territories and to such corporations or individuals in other states and territories as may apply for the same or as he may think proper. He shall also make a full report to the governor as other state officers are required to do, embodying therein such recommendations as he may deem calculated to promote the efficiency of his department.

Rev., s. 3911; 1899, c. 373, s. 6.

NOTE.—For salaries of the commissioner and assistant commissioner, see Salaries and Fees, s. 3873.

VARIOUS REGULATIONS

6554. Week's work to be sixty hours. Sixty hours shall constitute a week's work in all factories and manufacturing establishments of the state, and no minor nor woman shall be worked in such factory or establishment a longer period than sixty hours in one week and no adult male shall be worked in such factory or establishment for a longer period than sixty hours in one week unless there shall be a written contract entered into between said adult male and his employer to that effect in which the employer shall agree to pay said adult male extra compensation for extra hours he may work. No employee in any factory or manufacturing establishment in this state shall be worked exceeding eleven hours in any one day: Provided, this section shall not apply to engineers, firemen, superintendents, overseers, section and yard hands, office men, watchmen, or repairers of breakdowns.

6555. Seats for women employees; failure to provide a misdemeanor. All persons, firms, or corporations who employ females in a store, shop, office, or manufacturing establishment, as clerks, operatives, or helpers in any business, trade, or occupation carried on or operated in the state of North Carolina, shall be required to procure and provide proper and suitable seats for all such females, and shall permit the use of such seats, rests, or stools as may be necessary, and shall not make any rules, regulations, or orders preventing the use of such seats, stools, or rests when any such female employee or employees are not actively employed or engaged in their work in such business or employment.

If any employer of female help in the state of North Carolina shall fail, neglect, or refuse to provide seats, as provided in this article, on or before the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nine, or shall make any rules, orders, or regulations in his or its shop, store, or other place of business requiring females to remain standing when not necessarily employed or engaged in service or labor therein, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, in the discretion of the court.

6556. Medical chests in factories; failure to provide a misdemeanor. Every person, firm, or corporation operating a factory or shop employing over twenty-five laborers, in which machinery is used for any manufacturing purpose, or for any purpose except for elevation or for heating or hoisting apparatus, shall at all times keep and maintain free of expense to the employees a medical or surgical chest which shall contain two porcelain pans, two tourniquets, gauze, absorbent cotton, adhesive plasters, bandages, antiseptic soap, one bottle of carbolic acid with directions on bottle, one bottle antiseptic tablets, one pair of scissors, one folding stretcher, all of which shall not cost to exceed ten dollars, for the treatment of persons injured or taken ill upon the premises.

Any person, firm, or corporation violating this section shall be subject to a fine of not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars for every week during which such violation continues.

6557. Shelter at railroad division points required; failure to provide a misdemeanor. It shall be the duty of every person, firm, or corporation that may now or hereafter own, control, or operate any line of railroad in the state of North Carolina, to erect and maintain at every division point where cars are regularly taken out of trains for repairs or construction work, or where other railroad equipment is regularly made, repaired, or constructed, a building or shed with a suitable and sufficient roof over the repair and construction track or tracks so as to provide that all men or employees permanently employed in the construction and repair of cars, trucks, or other railroad equipment of whatever description shall be under shelter and protected during snows, rains, sleets, hot sunshine, and other inclement weather: Provided, the corporation commission shall have the power to direct the points at which sheds shall be erected, and the character of the sheds: Provided further, that such order shall only be made after a hearing of which public notice shall have been given.

On and after the first day of December, nineteen hundred and thirteen, any person, firm, or corporation failing to comply with the requirements of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and for each offense shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars. Each day of such failure shall constitute a separate offense.

1913, c. 65; 1913, c. 117

6558. Railroad employees to be paid twice a month. All persons, firms, companies, corporations, or associations owning, leasing, or operating any railroad or railroads, wholly or partially within this state, shall pay and settle with their employees engaged or employed in shops, round-houses, or repair shops within this state at least twice in each month, which settlements shall not be less than two weeks nor more than three weeks apart, and shall in such settlements, pay such employees the full amounts due them for their work and services up to the date of the preceding settlement, and such payment shall be made in lawful money of the United States, or by check or cash order redeemable by the maker thereof for its face value in lawful money of the United States upon demand of or presentation by the lawful holder thereof: Provided, this section shall not apply to repair shops where less than ten employees are engaged.

1915, c. 92.

SEPARATE TOILETS FOR SEXES AND RACES

6559. When separate toilets required. All persons and corporations employing males and females in any manufacturing industry, or other business employing more than two males and females in towns and cities having a population of one thousand persons or more, and where such employees are required to do indoor work chiefly, shall provide and keep in a cleanly condition separate and distinct toilet rooms for such employees, said toilets to be lettered and marked in a distinct manner, so as to separate the white and colored males and females of both sexes: Provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to cases where toilet arrangements or facilities are furnished by said employer off the premises occupied by him.

1913, c. 83, s. 1.

6560. Location; intruding on toilets misdemeanor. It shall be the duty of the persons or corporation mentioned under this article to locate their toilets for males and females, white and colored, in separate parts of their buildings or grounds, in buildings hereafter erected, and in those now erected all closets shall be separated by substantial walls of brick or timber, and any employee who shall wilfully intrude or use any toilet not intended for his or her sex or color shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined five dollars.

1913, c. 83, s. 4.

6561. Failure to provide toilets a misdemeanor. Any person or corporation refusing to comply with the provisions of the second preceding section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction fined five dollars for the first offense and five dollars for each day they shall fail to make the provisions required under this article.

1913, c. 83, s. 2.

6562. Police in towns to enforce article. It shall be the duty of the police officers of any town or city to investigate the places of business of any person or corporation employing males and females and see that the provisions of this article are put in force, and it shall be their duty to swear out a warrant before the mayor or other proper officer of any town or city and prosecute all persons, corporations, and managers of corporations violating any of the provisions of this article.

1913, c. 83, s. 3.

6563. Sheriff in county to enforce article. When any persons or corporations locate outside of any city or town its manufacturing plant or other business, it shall be the duty of the sheriff of the county to make investigation of the condition of the toilets used by such manufacturing plant or business and see that the provisions of this article are complied with, and it shall be his duty to swear out a warrant before a justice of the peace and prosecute any one violating the provisions of this article.

1913, c. 83, s. 5.

6564. Counties exempted from article. This article shall not apply to Sampson, Harnett, Lee, Johnston, Northampton, Cleveland, Rutherford, Polk, and Henderson counties.

1913, c. 83, s. 6.

HOURS OF SERVICE FOR EMPLOYEES OF CARRIERS

6565. Maximum continuous service. It shall be unlawful for any common carrier, its officers or agents, subject to this article, to require or permit any employee, subject to this article, to be or remain on duty for a longer period than sixteen consecutive hours, and whenever any such employee of such common carrier shall have been continuously on duty for sixteen hours he shall be relieved and not required or permitted again to go on duty until he has had at least ten consecutive hours off duty; and no such employee who has been on duty sixteen hours in the aggregate in any twenty-four hour period shall be required or permitted to continue or again go on duty without having had at least eight consecutive hours off duty: Provided, that no operator, train dispatcher, or other employee who by the use of the telegraph or telephone dispatches, reports, transmits, receives, or delivers orders pertaining to or affecting train movements shall be required or permitted to be or remain on duty for a period longer than nine hours in any twenty-four-hour period in all towers, offices, places, and stations continuously operated night and day, nor for a longer period than thirteen hours in all towers, offices, places, and stations operated only during the daytime, except in case of emergency, when the employees named in this proviso may be permitted to be and remain on duty for four additional hours in a twenty-four-hour-period on not exceeding three days in any week: Provided further, the corporation commission may, after a full hearing in a particular case and for good cause shown, extend the period within which a common carrier shall comply with the provisions of this proviso as to such case.

1911, c. 112, s. 2.

Under act of 1907, c. 456 (Pell's Revisal, sections 3754a, 3754b), which was repealed by act of 1911, c. 112, a railroad employee, alleging that he had been injured by the railroad on account of working overtime, could not recover damages, his own act being a violation of law: Lloyd v. R. R., 151-536.

6566. Penalty for violation. Any such common carrier, or any officer or agent thereof, requiring or permitting any employee to go, be, or remain on duty in violation of the last preceding section shall be liable to a penalty of not to exceed five hundred dollars for each and every violation, to be recovered in suit or suits to be brought in the name of the state of North Carolina on relation of the corporation commission in the superior court of Wake county or of the county in which the violation of this article occurred; and it shall be the duty of the said corporation commission to bring such suits upon satisfactory information lodged with it; but no such suit shall be brought after the expiration of one year from the state, assign, or transfer the same, for value or otherwise, with intent to mission, to lodge with the proper solicitors information of any such violations as may come to its knowledge. In all prosecutions under this article the common carrier shall be deemed to have had knowledge of all acts of all its officers and agents: Provided, that the provisions of this article shall not apply to any case of casualty or unavoidable accident or the act of God; nor where the delay was the result of a cause not known to the carrier or its officer or agent in charge of such employee at the time the said employee left a terminal, and which could not have been foreseen: Provided further, that the provisions of this article shall not apply to the crews of wrecking or relief trains: Provided further, this article shall not be construed to impose a penalty upon any common carrier for any act done in violation of the act of congress, ratified March the fourth, one thousand nine hundred and seven, and entitled "An act to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads by limiting the hours of service of employees thereon," or any acts amendatory thereof.

1911, c. 112, s. 3.

6567. Corporation commission's power. It shall be the duty of the corporation commission to execute and enforce the provisions of this article, and all powers granted to the corporation commission are extended to it in the execution thereof.

1911, c. 112, s. 4.

EARNINGS OF EMPLOYEES IN INTERSTATE COMMERCE

6568. Collections out of state to avoid exemptions forbidden. No resident creditor or other holder of any book account, negotiable instrument, duebill or other monetary demand arising out of contract, due by or chargeable against any resident wage-earner or other salaried employee of any railway corporation or other corporation, firm, or individual engaged in interstate business shall send out of the state, assign, or transfer the same, for value or otherwise, with intent to thereby deprive such debtor of his personal earnings and property exempt by law from application to the payment of his debts under the laws of the state of North Carolina, by instituting or causing to be instituted thereon against such debtor, in any court outside of this state, in such creditor's own name or in the name of any other person, any action, suit, or proceeding for the attachment or garnishment of such debtor's earnings in the hands of his employer, when such creditor and debtor and the railway corporation, or other corporation, firm, or individual owing the wages or salary intended to be reached are under the jurisdiction of the courts of this State.

1909, c. 504, s. 1.

6569. Resident not to abet collection out of state. No person residing or sojourning in this state shall counsel, aid, or abet any violation of the provisions of section 6568.

1909, c. 504, s. 2.

6570. Remedies for violation of two preceding sections; damages; indictment. Any person violating any provision of the last two sections shall be answerable in damages to any debtor from whom any book account, negotiable instrument, duebill, or other monetary demand arising out of contract shall be collected, or against whose earnings any warrant of attachment or notice of garnishment shall be issued, in violation of the provisions of section 6568, to the full amount of the debt thus collected, attached, or garnisheed, to be recovered by civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction in this state; and any person so offending shall likewise be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars.

1909, c. 504, s. 3.

6571. Institution of foreign suit, etc., evidence of intent to violate. In any civil or criminal action instituted in any court of competent jurisdiction in this state for any violation of the provisions of sections 6568 and 6569, proof of the institution or prosecution of any action, suit, or proceeding in violation of the provisions of section 6568, or the issuance of service therein of any warrant of attachment, notice, or garnishment or other like writ for the garnishment of earnings of the defendant therein, or of the payment by the garnishee therein of any final judgment rendered in any such action, suit or proceeding shall be deemed prima facie evidence of the intent of the creditor or other holder of the debt sued upon to deprive such debtor of his personal earnings and property exempt from application to the payment of his debts under the laws of this state, in violation of the provisions of this article.

1909, c. 504, s. 4.

6572. Construction of article. No provision of this article shall be so construed as to deprive any person entitled to its benefits of any legal or equitable remedy already possessed under the laws of this state.

1909, c. 504, s. 5.

CHILD LABOR REGULATIONS

- 5031. Child welfare commission created; duties.
- 5032. Employment of children under fourteen regulated.
- 5033. Prohibited employments of children under sixteen.
- 5034. Age certificates.
- 5035. Commission may employ agents.
- 5036. Inspections by agents; obstruction unlawful.
- 5037. Expenses of commission.
- 5038. Violations of this article and of certain other laws a misdemeanor.

5031. Child welfare commission created; duties. The state superintendent of public instruction, the secretary of the state board of health, and the commissioner of public welfare of the state of North Carolina are hereby constituted the state child welfare commission, and they shall serve without additional compensation. It shall be the duty of this commission to make and formulate such rules and regulations for enforcing and carrying out the provisions of this article, and of the laws relating to seats for women employees and the laws requiring separate toilets for sexes and races, as in its judgment it shall deem necessary.

1919, c. 100, s. 7.

5032. Employment of children under fourteen regulated. No child under the age of fourteen years shall be employed, or permitted to work, in or about or in connection with any mill, factory, cannery, workshop, manufacturing establishment, laundry, bakery, mercantile establishment, office, hotel, restaurant, barber shop, bootblack stand, public stable, garage, place of amusement, brick yard, lumber yard, or any messenger or delivery service, except in cases and under regulations prescribed by the commission herein created. The employments in this section enumerated shall not be construed to include bona fide boys' and girls' canning clubs recognized by the agricultural department of this state; and such canning clubs are hereby expressly exempted from the provisions of this article.

1919, c. 100, s. 5.

For liability for damages resulting from employment of children before the child labor act of 1903, c. 463, Rev. 3362-3364, see Ward v. Allen, 126-948; Fitzgerald v. Furniture Co., 131-645; Hendrix v. Cotton Mills, 138-170. Since the act of 1903 and subsequent acts of 1907, c. 463, Rev. 1981a-1981e, 1913, c. 64; 1915, c. 148; see Rolin v. Tobacco Co., 141-310; Leathers v. Tobacco Co., 144-342; Starnes v. Mfg. Co., 147-556; Pettit v. R. R. 156-119; McGowan v. Mfg. Co., 167-192; Evans v. Lumber Co., 174-31.

General effect of decisions as summarized by Allen, J., in Pettit v. R. R., 156-119: 1. The statute is constitutional; 2. It applies only to the industries mentioned; 3. Employment of child under age is negligence per se; 4. Such negligence is proximate, if the injury is the result of the employment; 5. There is no assumption of risk by child; 6. Negligence of parent not imputed to child; 7. Presumption against contributory negligence; 8. Presumption against the capacity to appreciate the danger; 9. Presumption may be rebutted.

5033. Prohibited employments of children under sixteen. No person under sixteen years of age shall be employed, or permitted to work, at night in any of the places or occupations referred to in the first preceding section, between the hours of nine p. m. and six a. m., and no person under sixteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in or about or in connection with any quarry or mine.

1919, c. 100, s. 6.

5034. Age certificates. If the employer of any person under sixteen years of age shall, at the time of such employment, in good faith, procure, rely upon, and keep on file a certificate issued in such form and under such conditions and by such persons as the said commission herein provided for shall prescribe, showing that the person is of legal age for such employment, such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the age of the person and the good faith of the employer. No person shall knowingly make a false statement or present false evidence in or in relation to any such certificate or application therefor, or cause any false statement to be made which may result in the issuance of an improper certificate of employment.

1919, c. 100, s. 10.

Effect of failure to have certificate under former statute, 1907, c. 463, Rev. 1981d: Rolin v. Tobacco Co., 141-300; see, also, Leathers v. Tobacco Co., 144-351.

5035. Commission may employ agents. The commission shall have authority to appoint and employ such agents for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this article as may be found to be necessary, and they may use the county superintendent of public welfare or chief school attendance officer or truant officer of the several counties for the purpose of carrying out such provisions, and they may use the agents specially designated for carrying out the provisions of this article to aid in carrying out the provisions of the general compulsory school attendance law under subchapter nine (IX) of the chapter on education.

1919, c. 100, s. 9.

5036. Inspection by agents; obstruction unlawful. For the purpose of securing the proper enforcement of the provisions of this article and of the laws relating to seats for women employees, and the laws requiring separate toilets for sexes and races, the commission, or its duly authorized agents, shall have authority to enter and inspect, at any time, mines, quarries, mills, factories, canneries, workshops, manufacturing establishments, laundries, bakeries, mercantile establishments, offices, hotels, restaurants, barber shops, bootblack stands, public stables, garages, places of amusement, brick yards, lumber yards, and other places of employment; and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to refuse permission to enter, obstruct, or prevent any duly authorized agent of the commission in his effort to make the inspection herein provided for.

1919, c. 100, s. 8.

5037. Expenses of commission. The state treasurer shall honor all warrants for necessary expenses incurred by the commission for meeting the salaries and expenses of any agents employed by the commission in the enforcement of this article, and the necessary expenses incurred by the commission in carrying out the provisions of this article, out of funds not otherwise appropriated, such warrants to be drawn upon the state auditor by the commission hereby created, or its duly authorized agent. Such expenses so incurred shall not exceed the sum of six thousand dollars per annum.

1919, c. 100, s. 11.

5038. Violations of this article and of certain other laws a misdemeanor. Any person, firm, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this article, or of the laws relating to seats for women employees or of the laws requiring separate toilets for sexes and races, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished by fine or imprisonment, or both, within the discretion of the court.

1919, c. 100, s. 12.

NOTE.—See under chapter Education: General compulsory attendance law, art 47; Compulsory attendance of deaf children, art. 49; Compulsory attendance of blind children, art 50. For violation as to employing child labor, see cases cited under section 5032.

4222. Enticing minors out of the state for the purpose of employment. If any person shall employ and carry beyond the limits of this state any minor, or shall induce any minor to go beyond the limits of this state, for the purpose of employment without the consent in writing, duly authenticated, of the parent, guardian or other person having authority over such minor, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined not less than five hundred and not more than one thousand dollars for each offense. The fact of the employment and going out of the state of the minor, or of the going out of the state by the minor, at the solicitation of the person for the purpose of employment, shall be prima facie evidence of knowledge that the person employed or solicited to go beyond the limits of the state is a minor.

Rev., s. 3630; 1891, c. 45.

Count hereunder may join with count under section 4223: State v. Burnett, 142-577.

4446. Failing to pay minors for doing certain work. Whenever any person, having a contract with any corporation, company or person for the manufacture or change of any raw material by the piece or pound, shall employ any minor to assist in the work upon the faith of and by color of such contract, with intent to cheat and defraud such minor, and, having secured the contract price, shall wilfully fail to pay the minor when he shall have performed his part of the contract work, whether done by the day or by the job, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days.

Rev., s. 3428a; 1893, c. 309.

REGULATION OF EMPLOYER AND EMPLOYEE

4469. Enticing servant to leave master. If any person shall entice, persuade and procure any servant by indenture, or any servant who shall have contracted in writing or orally to serve his employer, to leave unlawfully the service of his master or employer; or if any person shall knowingly and unlawfully harbor and detain, in his own service and from the service of his master or employer, any servant who shall unlawfully leave the service of such master or employer, then, in either case, such person and servant shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisoned not exceeding six months.

Rev., s. 3365; Code, ss. 3119, 3120; 1866, c. 58; 1866-7, c. 124; 1881, c. 303.

Section held constitutional: State v. Harwood, 104-724. No defense at common law to entice infant from the service of parent: State v. Rice, 76-194. Section has reference only to "enticing" servants, and indictment will not lie hereunder against servant for wilfully breaking contract to labor: State v. Daniel, 89-553. Section does not apply where the servant has merely made a contract to serve; he must be induced to leave the service of his master: Sears v. Whitaker, 136-37. There must be something more than mere employment; it must appear that defendant enticed or persuaded servant to leave the master: State v. Holly, 152-839.

Contract that tenant, as part of the rent, will work for landlord when he can leave his own crop and when he is needed by landlord does not constitute the relation here contemplated: State v. Hoover, 107-795; State v. Etheridge, 169-263.

It is a violation of the statute to entice a servant, although the contract for labor be voidable on account of the infancy of the servant: State v. Harwood, 104-724—but if the contract is entered into without the consent of the parents they may demand such infant to leave the service of his employer, without incurring any liability hereunder: State v. Anderson, 104-771.

Contract must be by indenture, in writing or oral: State v. Rice, 76-194; State v. Anderson, 104-771.

Indictment, sufficiency of: State v. Harwood, 104-724. Section cited in Haskins v. Royster, 70-601.

4470. Local: Hiring servant who has unlawfully left employee. If any person shall knowingly hire, employ, harbor or detain in his own service any servant, employee, tenant, or wage hand of any other person, who shall have contracted in writing, or orally, for a fixed period of time to serve his employer, and who shall have left the service of his employer in violation of his contract, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be civilly liable in damages to the party so aggrieved. This section shall apply to the following counties: Beaufort, Edgecombe, Person, Pitt, Washington, Warren, Vance, Pender, Halifax, Guilford, Granville, Hertford, Richmond, Wake, Wayne, and Caswell.

Rev., s. 3374; 1901, c. 682; 1903, c. 365; 1907, c. 238, s. 2; 1907, c. 402; 1919, c. 274.

4471. Enticing seamen from vessel. If any person shall induce any seaman, in the employment of any domestic or foreign vessel, in any of the ports of North Carolina, to leave any such vessel before his term of service shall have expired, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days.

Rev., s. 3555; Code, s. 1108; 1879, c. 219, s. 1; 1881, c. 256, s. 1.

4472. Secreting or harboring deserting seamen. If any person shall secrete or harbor any seaman who has deserted from any domestic or foreign vessel, knowing that such seaman has deserted, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days; and if such seaman be found concealed or secreted by any person on his premises, such concealment and secretion shall be deemed prima facie evidence that such person knew that such seaman was a deserter.

Rev., s. 3556; Code, s. 1109; 1879, c. 219, s. 2; 1881, c. 256, s. 2.

Compare, as to prima facie case: State v. Barrett, 138-636.

4473. Search warrants for deserting seamen. If any credible witness shall complain, upon oath before any justice of the peace, that any person has concealed on his premises any seaman who has deserted from any such domestic or foreign vessel, it shall be lawful for such justice to grant a search warrant to be executed within the limits of his county to any proper officer, authorizing him to search for such seaman, and to arrest the person on whose premises he may be found; and the person on whose premises such seaman shall be found shall be adjudged to pay the costs of the search warrant, if on examination it shall appear that such seaman was secreted or concealed by such person; otherwise the costs shall be paid by the party making the complaint.

Rev., s. 3557; Code, s. 1110; 1881, c. 256, s. 3.

4474. Appeal in cases of deserting seamen regulated. In all cases arising under the three preceding sections, if any appeal is prayed by either party at the time of the trial, it shall be granted; but no appeal shall be granted by any justice at any time after the final hearing of the case. In case an appeal is prayed at the trial, it shall be the duty of the justice to proceed immediately to reduce to writing the testimony of any witness whose testimony is material (if such witness shall be master officer or seaman on board of any vessel), in the presence of the adverse party, who may cross-question such witness, which testimony shall be subscribed by such witness and returned by the justice with the papers in the case; and on the hearing in the appellate court, the testimony so taken and reduced to writing by the justice shall be read, heard and accepted as the true and lawful testimony of such witness, as if such person were in person present to give evidence. For reducing such testimony to writing the justice shall receive the same fees as are allowed for taking depositions.

Rev., s. 3558; Code, s. 1111; 1881, c. 256, ss. 4, 5.

4475. Influencing agents and servants in violating duties owed employers. Any person who gives, offers or promises to an agent, employee or servant any gift or gratuity whatever with intent to influence his action in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business; any agent, employee or servant who requests or accepts a gift or gratuity or a promise to make a gift or to do an act beneficial to himself, under an agreement or with an understanding that he shall act in any particular manner in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business; any agent, employee or servant who, being authorized to procure materials, supplies or other articles either by purchase or contract for his principal, employer or master, or to employ service or labor for his principal, employer or master, receives, directly or indirectly, for himself or for another, a commission, discount or bonus from the person who makes such sale or contract, or furnishes such materials, supplies or other articles, or from a person who renders such service or labor; and any person who gives or offers such an agent, employee or servant such commission, discount or bonus, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished in the discretion of the court.

1913, c. 190, s. 1.

4476. Witness required to give self-criminating evidence; no suit or prosecution to be founded thereon. No person shall be excused from attending, testifying or producing books, papers, contracts, agreements and other documents before any court, or in obedience to the subpoena of any court, having jurisdiction of the crime denounced in the preceding section, on the ground or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to incriminate him or to subject him to a penalty or to a forfeiture; but no person shall be liable to any suit or prosecution, civil or criminal, for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, before such court or in obedience to its subpoena or in any such case or proceeding: Provided, that no person so testifying or producing any such books, papers, contracts, agreements or other documents shall be exempted from prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so testifying.

1913, c. 190, s. 2.

4477. Blacklisting employees. If any person, agent, company or corporation, after having discharged any employee from his or its service, shall prevent or attempt to prevent, by word or writing of any kind, such discharged employee from obtaining employment with any other person, company or corporation, such person, agent or corporation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars; and such person, agent, company or corporation shall be liable in penal damages to such discharged person, to be recovered by civil action. This section shall not be construed as prohibiting any person or agent of any company or corporation from furnishing in writing upon request, any other person, company or corporation to whom such discharged person or employee has applied for employment, a truthful statement of the reason for such discharge.

1909, c. 858, s. 1.

Statute explained: Seward v. R. R., 159-241. This section should be construed in the light of the common-law rule in regard to discharge: Ibid. The statement as to a discharged employee is not privileged, if made maliciously: Ibid.

4478. Conspiring to blacklist employees. It shall be unlawful for two or more persons to agree together to blacklist any discharged employee or to attempt, by words or writing or any other means whatever, to prevent such discharged employee, or any employee who may have voluntarily left the service of his employer, from obtaining employment with any other person or company. Persons violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court.

1909, c. 858, s. 2.

See section 4477.

4479. Issuing nontransferable script to laborers. If any person who employs laborers by the day, week or month shall issue in payment for the services of such laborers any ticket, certificate or other script bearing upon its face the word "nontransferable," or shall issue such ticket, certificate or other script in any form that would render it void by transfer from the person to whom issued, or shall refuse to pay to the person holding the same its face value, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each offense, or imprisoned not more than thirty days.

Rev., s. 3730; 1889, c. 280; 1891, c. 78; 1891, c. 456; 1891, c. 46; 1891, cc. 167, 370; 1895, c. 127; 1891, cc. 167, 456.

This does not authorize the assignee of a ticket or script payable in merchandise to demand and receive payment in money; Marriner v. Roper Co., 112-164. Meaning of "face value": Ibid.

REGULATION OF LANDLORD AND TENANT

4480. Local: Violation of certain contracts between landlord and tenant.

If any tenant or cropper shall procure advances from his landlord to enable him to make a crop on the land rented by him, and then willfully abandon the same without good cause and before paying for such advances; or if any landlord shall contract with a tenant or cropper to furnish him advances to enable him to make a crop, and shall willfully fail or refuse, without good cause, to furnish such advances according to his agreement, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. Any person employing a tenant or cropper who has violated the provisions of this section, with knowledge of such violation, shall be liable to the landlord furnishing such advances for the amount thereof, and shall also be guilty of a misdemeanor, and fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. This section shall apply to the following counties only: Wayne, Lenoir, Greene, Johnston, Jones, Onslow, Craven, Cleveland, Sampson, Pitt, Duplin, Gates, Cumberland, Perquimans, Chowan, Robeson, Bladen, Nash, Harnett, Edgecombe, Hertford, Wilson, Rockingham, Pender, Currituck, Gaston, Northampton, Beaufort, Chatham, Tyrrell, Mecklenburg, Halifax, Caswell, Camden, Cabarrus, Columbus, Martin, Washington, Wake, Alexander, Montgomery, Pamlico, Rowan, Rutherford, Bertie, Warren and Lincoln.

Rev., s. 3366; 1905, cc. 297, 383, 445, 820; 1907, c. 84, s. 1; 1907, c. 595, s. 1; 1907, cc. 8, 639, 719, 869.

Distinction between tenant or cropper and servant: State v. Etheridge, 169-263.

Indictment should allege fraud, and abandonment of crop without cause, and before paying for advances: State v. Williams, 150-802.

Justice of the peace has final jurisdiction: State v. Wilkes, 149-453.

4481. Local: Tenant neglecting crop; landlord failing to make advances; harboring or employing delinquent tenant. If any tenant or cropper shall procure advances from his landlord to enable him to make a crop on the land rented by him, and then willfully refuse to cultivate such crops or negligently or willfully abandon the same without good cause and before paying for such advances; or if any landlord who induces another to become tenant or cropper by agreeing to furnish him advances to enable him to make a crop, shall willfully fail or refuse without good cause to furnish such advances according to his agreement; or if any person shall entice, persuade, or procure any tenant, lessee or cropper, who has made a contract agreeing to cultivate the land of another, to abandon or to refuse or fail to cultivate such land, or after notice shall harbor or detain on his own premises, or on the premises of another, any such tenant, lessee or cropper, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days. Any person who employs a tenant or cropper who has violated the provisions of this section, with knowledge of such violation, shall be liable to the landlord furnishing such advances for the amount thereof. This section shall apply only to the following counties: Wake, Hyde, Anson, Hertford, Sampson, Franklin, Union, Richmond, Moore, Lincoln, Rowan, Rutherford and Halifax.

Rev., s. 3367; 1905, c. 299, ss. 1-7; 1907, c. 84, s. 2; 1907, c. 238, s. 1; 1907, c. 595, s. 2; 1907, cc. 543, 810.

Married women not liable under this section for breach of contract unless contract falls within the exceptions in Revisal, section 2094: State v. Robinson, 143-620. See section 2507, changing section 2094 of Revisal.

4482. Local: Tenant violating contract not to rent land from others. Whenever land shall be rented for agricultural purposes and the tenant renting the same shall, at the time thereof or at any subsequent time during the term of such renting, enter into a contract in writing with his lessor, from whom he so rented, that he, the tenant, will not thereafter, without the lessor's consent, rent any land for agricultural purposes from any other person than such lessor during the same term of renting, nor become a cropper on the land of any other person than the lessor during such term, any tenant who shall willfully violate the written contract so entered into by him, without just cause and lawful excuse therefor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days. This section shall apply only to Greene County.

1907, c. 981.

LIABILITY OF RAILROADS FOR INJURIES TO EMPLOYEES

3464. Common carrier defined. The term "common carrier," as used in this article, shall include the receiver or receivers, or other persons or corporations charged with the duty of the management of the business of a common carrier.

1913, c. 6, s. 5.

3465. Fellow-servant rule abrogated; defective machinery. Any servant or employee of any railroad company operating in this state who shall suffer injury to his person, or the personal representative of any such servant or employee who shall have suffered death in the course of his services or employment with such company, by the negligence, carelessness or incompetence of any other servant, employee or agent of the company, or by any defect in the machinery, ways or appliances of the company, shall be entitled to maintain an action against such company. Any contract or agreement, expressed or implied, made by any employee of such company to waive the benefit of this section shall be null and void.

Rev., s. 2646; 1897 (Pr.) c. 56; 1915, c. 256.

APPLICATION OF STATUTE. This section, known as the "Fellow-Servant Act," enacted in 1897, is an unconditional abrogation of the doctrines of fellow-servant and assumption of risk as applied to railroads: Coley v. R. R., 129-407; Bloxham v. Timber Corp., 172-37. As a result of the ruling in Hobbs v. R. R., 107-1, this section was enacted: Nicholson v. R. R., 138-516.

The section is constitutional: Nicholson v. R. R., 138-517; Coley v. R. R., 128-534, 129-407; Kinney v. R. R., 122-961; Wright v. R. R., 123-280; Hancock v. R. R., 124-222. Court will take notice of this section without being pleaded: Hancock v. R. R., 124-222.

It applies to all railroads in operation, whether run by steam or electricity: Goodman v. Power Co., 174-661; Nicholson v. R. R., 138-516. When a railroad is in operation for the statute to apply: McDonald v. R. R., 165-622. It applies to lumber or logging roads: Hemp-hill v. Lumber Co., 141-487; Liles v. Lumber Co., 142-39; Bird v. Leather Co., 143-283; Wright v. R. R., 151-529; Bissell v. Lumber Co., 152-123; Goodman v. Power Co., 174-661—to a street railway, Brookshire v. Electric Co., 152-669.

It does not apply to a railroad in course of construction: Nicholson v. R. R., 138-516; O'Neal v. R. R., 152-404; Bailey v. Meadows Co., 152-603—and it applies only to railroads, Wade v. Contracting Co., 149-177; Hipp v. Fiber Co., 152-745. It does not apply to injuries sustained by servant of an independent contractor of a railroad company by reason of negligence of a fellow-servant: Avery v. R. R., 137-130.

This section is applicable to employee of "any railroad operating in this state," and is not limited to injuries received in this state: Williams v. R. R., 128-286. It will not be presumed that doctrine of non-liability for acts of fellow-servants obtains in another state: Ibid.

This section has the effect of making all coemployees of railroad companies agents and vice-principals of the company so far as fixing the company with responsibility for their negligence is concerned: Fitzgerald v. R. R., 141-534. Fellow-servant law applies to all railroad employees, whether injured while running trains or rendering any other service: Sigman v. R. R., 135-181.

Under Fellow-Servant Act, which operates on all employees of railroad companies, whether in superior, equal or subordinate positions, if plaintiff, a hostler of defendant, was injured as proximate cause of negligence of his helpers in shoveling coal from a car into a tender, defendant is responsible: Fitzgerald v. R. R., 141-530.

By contract of service made in North Carolina, the provisions of the Fellow-Servant Act must be read into the contract, and there being no evidence that service was to be performed altogether in another state, it would seem that relative rights and liabilities of parties are fixed by the terms of contract; Miller v. R. R., 141-49.

The contention that Fellow-Servant Act applies to defendant in this case cannot be determined where its answer denied that it owned or operated the logging railroad, and no appropriate issues were submitted; Tanner v. Lumber Co., 140-475.

This section applies to an injury suffered by any employee in any department of work of a railroad which is being operated, but does not apply to an employee engaged in building a trestle for extension of railroad, at a point some miles from track on which trains are being operated; Nicholson v. R. R., 138-516—nor to one engaged in work at lumber yard and not connected with the work of transportation, Twiddy v. Lumber Co., 154-237.

In an action against a railroad company for wrongfully causing death of engineer, question whether it and another road were partners in operating part of road on which deceased was killed was properly submitted to jury; Harrill v. R. R., 135-601.

Where a person is agent or servant of two roads, and through his negligence another servant is injured, either or both roads would be liable; Moore v. R. R., 165-439. Person employed by railroad company to load express hauled by company is not a fellow-servant of an employee of express company; Hopper v. Express Co., 133-375.

DEFECTIVE APPLIANCES, ETC. Failure to furnish suitable appliances is continuing negligence which excludes the defense of contributory negligence, such failure being the proximate cause of the injury; Troxler v. R. R., 124-189. Railroad must furnish appliances which are approved and in general use; Hines v. Lumber Co., 174-294. Instances: Automatic coupler, Montgomery v. R. R., 163-597; defective ladder, Mincey v. R. R., 161-467; safe crossing for removing crossties, Wells v. R. R., 161-368; detached car on steep grade, Mum-power v. R. R., 174-742; tree falling on train, Bloxham v. Timber Corp., 172-37; defective step to engine, Urquhart v. R. R., 156-582; defective engine, Biles v. R. R., 139-528; defective sand-dryer, Walker v. R. R., 135-738; "kicking cars" or "flying switch," Kenney v. R. R., 165-99; Worley v. R. R., 169-105; allowing ice to accumulate around pump, Renn v. R. R., 170-128. The term "ways" refers to roadways and objective conditions; Pigford v. R. R., 160-93.

The rule of care is not so strict in case of ordinary tools and everyday conditions requiring no special preparation or foresight, and where there is no reason to suppose an injury would result; Bunn v. R. R., 169-648; Mercer v. R. R., 154-399; Dunn v. R. R., 151-313; Lynch v. R. R., 164-249—as in case of cross-piece to hold lumber loaded on car, Wallace v. R. R., 141-646. When employee directed to make repairs uses defective implement in such a way as to cause injury, employer is not liable; Mathis v. R. R., 144-162.

The railroad is not liable for accidental injury; Morris v. R. R., 171-533; Lloyd v. R. R., 168-646; Simpson v. R. R., 154-51; Lassiter v. R. R., 150-483, and cases cited.

ASSUMPTION OF RISK AND CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE. The two principles distinguished; Coley v. R. R., 129-407; Pigford v. R. R., 160-93; Horton v. R. R., 162-424. Assumption of risk is not a defense under this section; Urquhart v. R. R., 156-582; Biles v. R. R., 143-78; Mott v. R. R., 131-234; Thomas v. R. R., 129-392; Cogdell v. R. R., 129-398; Coley v. R. R., 128-534; s. c., 129-407. Contributory negligence is a valid defense; Pigford v. R. R., 160-93; Fry v. R. R., 159-357; Coley v. R. R., 129-407. It must be pleaded, and the burden is on the defendant, see section 523.

Where defendant failed to furnish a safe appliance it was negligence per se, continuing up to the time of the injury, and neither assumption of risk nor contributory negligence would be a defense; Greenlee v. R. R., 122-977; Troxler v. R. R., 124-189; Hairston v. Leather Co., 143-512. Continuing to work under such conditions is not assumption of risk nor contributory negligence unless it is so obviously dangerous that no prudent man would subject himself to the risk; Coley v. R. R., 129-407; Hamilton v. Lumber Co., 156-520; Pigford v. R. R., 160-93; Horton v. R. R., 162-424. When jury finds there was no contributory negligence, it is immaterial what fellow-servant caused the injury; Kinney v. R. R., 122-961. See annotations under section 3467, 3468.

ACTION FOR DAMAGES. An action may be brought in the state court against a railroad in the hands of a federal receiver or against the purchaser of such road; Lassiter v. R. R., 163-19.

The rule for estimating damages is to give the present worth of the difference in plaintiff's earning capacity caused by the injury; Fry v. R. R., 159-357, and cases cited. For effect of relief department, see section 3469. For damages for wrongful death, see sections 160, 161.

3466. Injuries through fellow-servants or defective appliances. Every common carrier by railroad shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier, or in the case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in its cars, engine appliances, machinery, track, road-bed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment.

1913, c. 6, s. 1.

The act of 1913 is substantially the same as the Federal Employee's Liability Act: Sears v. R. R., 169-446. For annotations on negligence, appliances, etc., see section 3465.

The federal statute supersedes the state statute in cases involving interstate commerce: Jones v. R. R., 176-260; Renn v. R. R., 170-128. The federal and state courts have concurrent jurisdiction, and which statute will apply depends upon whether the train or employee was engaged in interstate commerce: West v. R. R., 174-125; Renn v. R. R., 170-128. When the train or employee is engaged in interstate commerce: Capps v. R. R., 178-558; Sears v. R. R., 169-446; Saunders v. R. R., 167-375; Lloyd v. R. R., 166-24; Zachary v. R. R., 156-496, reversed in 232 U. S., 248.

The statutes are not the same in the beneficiaries in case of death: Horton v. R. R., 175-472; Kenny v. R. R., 167-14; Raines v. R. R., 169-189; Dooie v. R. R., 163-454—nor in the manner of estimating damages, Ibid.; Irvin v. R. R., 164-5; Ferebee v. R. R., 167-290. See sections 160, 161.

Time within which action is to be brought: King v. R. R., 176-301; Belch v. R. R., 176-22; Burnett v. R. R., 163-186.

3467. Contributory negligence no bar, but mitigates damages. In all actions hereafter brought against any common carrier by railroad to recover damages for personal injury to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, however, that no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

1913, c. 6, s. 2.

This abolishes contributory negligence as an absolute defense and adopts the doctrine of comparative negligence, reducing the damage: Davis v. R. R., 175-648; Parks v. Tanning Co., 175-29; Williams v. R. R., 168-360; Sears v. R. R., 169-446; Ingle v. R. R., 167-636. It applies only to common carriers by railroad and not to roads engaged only in hauling lumber or timber: Williams v. Mfg. Co., 175-226.

Contributory negligence should be pleaded: Fleming v. R. R., 160-197—but a separate issue is not required, Gray v. R. R., 167-433; Lloyd v. R. R., 166-24—nor does it change the rule of last clear chance, Gray v. R. R., 167-433.

Manner of estimating damages: Davis v. R. R., 175-648; Tilghman v. R. R., 167-163, 237 U. S., 500.

3468. Assumption of risk as defense. In any action brought against any common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this article to recover damages for injuries to, or the death of, any of its employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee, or the death or injury was caused by negligence.

1913, c. 6, s. 3.

See annotations under section 3465. Assumption of risk and contributory negligence explained: Horton v. R. R., 175-472; Jones v. R. R., 176-260; King v. R. R., 176-301; Wallace v. Power Co., 176-558; Gaddy v. R. R., 175-515; Horton v. R. R., 169-108; 162-424, 157-146, 233 U. S., 492. In case of injury caused by street car failing to provide a suitable fender, neither assumption of risk nor contributory negligence is a defense: Smith v. Electric Co., 173-489.

3469. Contracts and rules exempting from liability void; set-off. Any contract, rule, regulation or device whatsoever, the purpose and intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier by railroad to exempt itself from any liability created by this article, shall to that extent be void: Provided, that in any action brought against such common carrier, under and by virtue of any of the provisions of this article, such common carrier may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance or relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee, or the person entitled thereto, on account of the injury or death for which such action was brought.

1913, c. 6, s. 4.

Acceptance of benefits under relief department does not prevent a recovery: Barden v. R. R., 152-318; Wacksmith v. R. R., 157-34; King v. R. R., 157-44; Burnett v. R. R., 163-186; Herring v. R. R., 168-555.

1919, c 275.

Cases decided before enactment of section, showing application to logging roads: Bissell v. Lumber Co., 152-123; Roberson v. Lumber Co., 154-328; Twiddy v. Lumber Co., 154-237; Hamilton v. Lumber Co., 156-519; Jackson v. Lumber Co., 158-317; Bloxham v. Timber Corp., 172-37.

3480. Operation of trains on Sunday misdemeanor; exceptions. No railroad company shall permit the loading or unloading of any freight car on Sunday; nor shall it permit any car, train of cars or locomotive to be run on Sunday on any railroad, save in case of accident, except such as may be run for the purpose of transporting the United States mails, passengers with their baggage and ordinary express freight in express cars exclusively, and except such as may be run for the purpose of transporting fruits, vegetables, livestock and perishable freights. Where there are not sufficient cars of livestock or other perishable freights to make a complete train, or section of a train, the company may add other cars to complete the same. Solid trains, made up of through freight cars, reaching on Sunday any point upon any railroad in North Carolina and destined for some point or points beyond the limits of the state of North Carolina, may be continued as a solid through freight train along the line of such railroad through the state of North Carolina, without stopping the train for other purposes than to take on fuel and receive necessary running orders. The word Sunday in this section shall be construed to embrace only that portion of the day between sunrise and sunset. Trains in transitu, having started on Saturday, may, in order to reach the terminus or shops, run until nine o'clock a.m. on Sunday, but not later, nor for any other purpose than to reach the terminus or shops. Any railroad company violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor in each county in which such car, train of cars, or locomotive shall run, or in which any such freight car shall be loaded or unloaded, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars for each offense.

Rev., ss. 2613, 3844; Code, s. 1973; 1879, cc. 97, 203; 1885, c. 92; 1897, c. 126; 1901, c. 444; 1909, c. 285.

This section is constitutional, and does not interfere with interstate commerce in the absence of federal legislation: State v. R. R., 119-814. Sufficient evidence to show violation: Ibid; State v. R. R., 149-470.

That train was running in violation of this section does not render carrier liable for injury, unless otherwise liable: Davis v. R. R., 170-582. When running trains or shifting cars near a church may become a nuisance: Taylor v. R. R., 145-400.

Railroads are not entitled to exclude Sunday, on account of this section, in the calculation of the number of days delay of transportation of freight: Davis v. R. R., 145-207; Watson v. R. R., 145-236; Keeter v. R. R., 86-346; but see Wall v. R. R., 147-407.

3541. Street-cars to have vestibule fronts; failure to provide them misdemeanor. All street passenger railway companies shall use vestibule fronts, of frontage not less than four feet, on all passenger cars run by them on their lines during the latter half of the month of November and during the months of December, January, February and March of each year: Provided, that such companies shall not be required to close the sides of the vestibules: Provided further, that such companies may use cars without vestibule fronts in cases of temporary emergency in suitable weather, not to exceed four days in any one month within the period herein prescribed for the use of vestibule fronts. The corporation commission is hereby authorized to make exemptions from the provisions of this section in cases where in their judgment the enforcement of this section is unnecessary. Any such company that shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be subject to a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each day of such refusal or failure.

Rev., ss. 2615, 3800; 1901, c. 743.

Street cars must use every reasonable precaution to protect passengers in getting on and off the cars: Wood v. Public Corp., 174-697. A violation of this section does not render the carrier liable unless some causal connection with the injury is shown: Rich v. Electric Co., 152-689.

4420. Operating trains and street cars while intoxicated. Any train dispatcher, telegraph operator, engineer, fireman, flagman, brakeman, switchman, conductor, motorman, or other employee of any steam, street, suburban or interurban railway company, who shall be intoxicated while engaged in running or operating, or assisting in running or operating, any railway train, shifting-engine, or street or other electric car, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned, in the discretion of the court.

Rev., s. 3758; Code, s. 1972; 1891, c. 114; 1871-2, c. 138, s. 38; 1907, c. 330.

SUNDAYS AND HOLIDAYS

3955. Work in ordinary calling on Sunday forbidden. On the Lord's day, commonly called Sunday, no tradesman, artificer, planter, laborer, or other person shall, upon land or water, do or exercise any labor, business or work, of his ordinary calling, works of necessity and charity alone excepted, nor employ himself in hunting, fishing or fowling, nor use any game, sport or play, upon pain that every person so offending being of the age of fourteen years and upwards, shall forfeit and pay one dollar.

Rev., s. 2836; Code, s. 3782; R. C., c. 115; 1741, c. 30, s. 2.

For history of Sunday laws, see Rodman v. Robinson, 134-503. Every act may lawfully be done on Sunday which may lawfully be done on any other day, unless there is some statute forbidding it: Ibid.; State v. Rickerts, 74-192.

This section does not prevent a town ordinance regulating Sunday trade: State v. Burbage, 172-876; State v. Davis, 171-809; State v. Medlin, 170-682.

The legislature has power to prohibit labor on Sunday on the ground of public decency, but such regulation is confined to such acts as have a tendency to disturb the public; but when it prohibits labor which is done in private, the power is exceeded: Melvin v. Easley, 52-356.

Selling a horse on Sunday is not forbidden, where dealing in horses is not the ordinary calling: Melvin v. Easley, 52-356. A contract for conveyance of land entered into on Sunday is valid: Rodman v. Robinson, 134-503. Giving a check for automobile repairs on Sunday is not a violation of this section: Auto Co. v. Rudd, 176-497.

Keeping open shop and selling goods on Sunday is not indictable: State v. Williams, 26-400; State v. Brooksbank, 28-73; Melvin v. Easley, 52-356; State v. Ricketts, 74-187.

Section referred to in Davis v. R. R., 145-207.

3959. Dates of public holidays. The first day of January, the nineteenth day of January, the twenty-second day of February, the twelfth day of April, the tenth day of May, the twentieth day of May, the fourth day of July, the first Monday in September, the eleventh day of November, Tuesday after the first Monday in November when a general election is held, the day appointed by the governor as a thanksgiving day, and the twenty-fifth day of December of each and every year, are declared to be public holidays; and whenever any such holiday shall fall upon Sunday, the Monday following shall be a public holiday.

Rev., s. 2838; Code, s. 3784; 1891, c. 58; 1899, c. 410; 1901, c. 25; 1881, c. 294; 1907, c. 996; 1909, c. 888; 1919, c. 287.

Statute declaring certain days public holidays does not prohibit the pursuit of the usual avocations of citizens, nor public officers, or the courts from exercising their respective functions on those days. While it might be the attendance of jurors, witnesses and suitors will not be enforced, and the courts will not sue out or enforce process on such days, yet courts may lawfully proceed with the business before them: State v. Moore, 104-743.

Notice of opening depositions is not void because time set for opening them is on a legal holiday: Latta v. Electric Co., 146-285. Whatever the statute does not prohibit from being done on a legal holiday may be done, and the legality of such acts cannot be measured by the legal status of Sunday: Ibid.

3960. Acts to be done on Sunday or holidays. Where the day or the last day for doing an act required or permitted by law to be done falls on Sunday or on a holiday the act may be done on the next succeeding secular or business day.

Rev., s. 2839; Code, ss. 3784, 3785, 3786; 1899, c. 733, s. 194.

Arrest on Sunday in civil action, section 768. Computing time, Sunday not counted, section 922. Fishing on Sunday, section 1970. Hunting on Sunday, section 2122. Negotiable instrument maturing on Sunday or holiday, section 3066. Trains running on Sunday, section 3480.

STOCKHOLDERS' LIABILITY FOR WAGES EARNED

3426. Liability for unpaid stock to laborers; notice to stockholders. Each stockholder of any such company shall be individually liable to the creditors of such company to an amount equal to the amount unpaid on the stock held by him, for all the debts and liabilities of such company until the whole amount of the capital stock so held by him shall have been paid to the company, and all the stockholders of any such company shall be jointly and severally liable for the debts due or owing to any of its laborers and servants, other than contractors, for personal services for thirty days service performed for such company, but shall not be liable to an action therefor before an execution shall be returned unsatisfied in whole or in part against the corporation, and the amount due on such execution shall be the amount recoverable with costs against such stockholder. Before such laborer or servant shall charge such stockholders for such thirty days service he shall give them notice in writing within twenty days after the performance of such service that he intends to hold them liable, and shall commence such action therefor within thirty days after the return of such execution unsatisfied as above mentioned; and every such stockholder, against whom any such recovery by such laborer or servant shall have been had, shall have a right to recover the same of the other stockholders in such corporation in ratable proportion to the amount of the stock they shall respectively hold with himself.

Rev., s. 2556; Code, s. 1940; 1871-2, c. 138, s. 10.

EXEMPTIONS FROM JURY DUTY

2329. Exemptions from jury duty. All practicing physicians, licensed druggists, telegraph operators who are in the regular employ of any telegraph company or railroad company, train dispatchers who have the actual handling of either freight or passenger trains, regularly licensed pilots, regular ministers of the gospel, officers or employees of a state hospital for the insane, active members of a fire company, funeral directors and embalmers, printers and linotype operators, all millers of grist mills, all United States railway postal clerks and rural free delivery mail carriers, locomotive engineers and railroad conductors in active service, and all members of the national guard of North Carolina who comply with and perform all duties required of them as members of said national guard, shall be exempt from service as jurors.

Rev., s. 1980; Code, ss. 1723, 2269; 1885, c. 289; 1889, c. 255; 1897, c. 32; 1901, c. 118; 1909, cc. 333, 868; 1913, c. 38, s. 1; 1915, c. 260.

For dentists exempt from jury duty, see section 6640. Exemption from jury service is a mere privilege, not a contract, and may be revoked by legislature at any time: State v. Cantwell, 142-604. Exemption from jury service in general does not release from service as talesman: State v. Willard, 79-660; State v. Williams, 18-372; State v. Hogg, 6-319—but he is not bound to serve on special venire, State v. Whitford, 34-99.

Section referred to in State v. Peoples, 131-785; State v. Haywood, 94-850.

CORRUPT PRACTICES AT ELECTIONS

4185. Certain acts declared misdemeanors. Any person who shall in connection with any primary, special, general or other election in this state do any of the acts and things declared in this section to be unlawful shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court. It shall be unlawful—

6. To intimidate or oppress voters. For any person to directly or indirectly discharge or threaten to discharge from employment or otherwise intimidate or oppress any legally qualified voter on account of any vote such voter may cast, or consider casting, or intend to cast or not to cast, or which he may have failed to cast.

Rev., s. 3387; 1901, c. 89, s. 53; 1913, c. 164, s. 1.

Turning one out of church because he voted a certain ticket is not within section: State v. Rogers, 128-576. Compare State v. Williams, 117-753.

LABOR AGENTS

7852. Emigrant agents. Every person, firm, or corporation engaged in procuring laborers for employment out of this state shall pay an annual license tax of two hundred dollars for each county in which such person, firm, or corporation does business, the same to be collected by the sheriff. Any one violating provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not less than two hundred dollars or imprisoned, in the discretion of the court.

Rev., s. 5180; 1917, c. 231, s. 73; 1919, c. 90, s. 73.

Statutes of this nature constitutional: State v. Hunt, 129-686; State v. Roberson, 136-587. An officer of a foreign corporation coming into this state and hiring hands for employment by himself as the officer of the corporation, is not "engaged in the business of hiring hands," etc., and is not liable for the tax on emigrant agents: Lane v. Comrs., 139-443.

Occupation of an "emigrant agent" as defined in chapter 75, acts of 1891, does not belong to that class of trades or occupations which are so inherently harmful or dangerous to the public that they may, either directly or indirectly, be restricted or prohibited: State v. Moore, 113-697.

Section does not apply to a person who comes into this state and employs laborers to work for him in another state: Carr v. Comrs., 136-125; State v. Roberson, 136-587; State v. Hunt, 129-686; State v. Moore, 113-697.

Tax on the business of procuring laborers for employment outside the state being an exercise of the power of the state to levy taxes, the amount is not reviewable by the courts: State v. Roberson, 136-587.

ATTACHMENT AND GARNISHMENT

8004. Attachment and garnishment proceedings. * * * Any corporation, firm, or person who shall, on demand made, refuse to give to the tax collector of any county, city, or town a list giving the names of all persons employed by them who are liable for tax, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

1618. Priority of payments by trustee. The trustee, after paying the necessary costs of the administration of the trust, shall pay as speedily as possible (1) all debts which are a lien upon any of the trust property in his hands, to the extent of the net proceeds of the property upon which such debt is a lien; (2) wages due to workmen, clerks, traveling or city salesmen, or servants, which have been earned within three months before registration of said deed of trust or deed of assignment, and (3) all other debts equally ratable.

1909, c. 918, s. 5.

Except as to the two classes mentioned, there can be no discrimination among creditors: Wooten v. Taylor, 159-604.

PROOF OF PAYMENT OF DEBTS OF DECEDENT

93. Order of payment of debts. The debts of the decedent must be paid in the following order:

First class. Debts which by law have a specific lien on property to an amount not exceeding the value of such property.

Where valid lien upon property sold, administrator must use first moneys to discharge lien: Pate v. Oliver, 104-458; see, also, Chemical Co. v. Edwards, 136-78; Moore v. Dunn, 92-63; Creamy v. Pearce, 69-67.

Second class. Funeral expenses.

Funeral expenses of no one but intestate included: Baker v. Dawson, 131-227—Paid any one who of necessity has to advance costs of burial. Ray v. Honeycutt, 119-510; see, also, Parker v. Lewis, 13-22; Ward v. Jones, 44-127; Barbee v. Green, 92-471.

Third class. Taxes assessed on the estate of the deceased previous to his death.

- * Taxes to be paid as other debts, and not by ordinary process by sheriff: Sherrod v. Dawson, 154-525; see, also, James v. Withers, 126-715.

Fourth class. Dues to the United States and to the state of North Carolina.

Fifth class. Judgments of any court of competent jurisdiction within this state, docketed and in force, to the extent to which they are a lien on the property of the deceased at his death.

Priority is determined at the death of the debtor: Tarboro v. Pender, 153-427. Debt for purchase money of land is not preferred: Moore v. Ingram, 91-376. Cases as to debts of fifth class: Mauney v. Holmes, 87-428; Galloway v. Bradfield, 86-163; Murchison v. Williams, 71-135; Jenkins v. Carter, 70-500; Dancy v. Pope, 68-147.

Sixth class. Wages due to any domestic servant or mechanical or agricultural laborer employed by the deceased, which claim for wages shall not extend to a period of more than one year next preceding the death; or if such servant or laborer was employed for the year current at the decease, then from the time of such employment; for medical services within the twelve months preceding the decease.

As to debt to child for services performed for parent: Winker v. Killian, 141-575; and cases therein cited.

Seventh class. All other debts and demands.

Foreign and domestic creditors are on same footing as to assets: Findley v. Gidney, 75-395. No debt of the estate can be created after the death of intestate: Lindsey v. Darden, 124-307.

- 2489. Lienor's claim disputed; proceeds of sale held; issue made for trial.
- 2490. Local: Short form of liens.
- 2491. Local: Rights on lienor's failure to cultivate.
- 2492. Local: Commissioners to furnish blank records.

MECHANICS', LABORERS' AND MATERIALMEN'S LIENS

2433. On buildings and property, real and personal. Every building built, rebuilt, repaired or improved, together with the necessary lots on which such building is situated, and every lot, farm or vessel, or any kind of property, real or personal, not herein enumerated, shall be subject to a lien for the payment of all debts contracted for work done on the same, or material furnished.

Rev., s. 2016; Code, s. 1781; 1901, c. 617; 1869-70, c. 206, s. 1.

History of statutes: Mfg. Co. v. Andrews, 165-285, and see Const. N. C., art. 14, s. 4, which is foundation of successive statutes.

"Mechanic's lien," "laborer's lien" and "material lien" discussed and distinguished; Broyhill v. Gaither, 119-443.

LIEN: CHARACTER AND ESSENTIALS. The lien is statutory, given to enforce a debt, and without a debt there can be no lien: Foundry Co. v. Aluminum Co., 172-704; Weathers v. Borders, 124-610; Boone v. Chatfield, 118-916; Grissom v. Pickett, 98-54; Wilkie v. Bray, 71-205. Relation of debtor and creditor must exist, and the lien depends on and is incident to debt: Mfg. Co. v. Andrews, 165-285; Baker v. Robbins, 119-289. Thus no lien against owner for improvements put up on credit of, and under contract with, lessee: Boone v. Chatfield, 118-916; Weathers v. Cox, 159-575. No lien to person who efficiently without authority on contract builds upon another's land: Thompson v. Taylor, 110-70—nor against mortgagee, where, without his knowledge or subsequent ratification, improvements made by contract with mortgagor, though mortgagor's equity is subject to lien: Baker v. Robbins, 119-289.

There must be a contract, express or implied, under which materials were furnished or work done in order for the lien to exist: Nicholson v. Nichols, 115-200. See Bruce v. Mining Co., 147-642.

Statute designed to protect those who work or supply materials and who, in absence of the statute, would have no security but the personal obligations of employer; Grissom v. Pickett, 98-54.

PROPERTY SUBJECT TO LIEN. Nothing that does not become part of realty is the subject of mechanic's lien; therefore trade fixtures put up by lessee not subject to lien: Woodworking Co. v. Southwick, 119-611—mortgagor's removing house after lien attached does not affect the lien, Turner v. Mebane, 110-413.

Subject to mechanic's lien—estate by entireties, for materials furnished under contract with both husband and wife: Finch v. Cecil, 170-72—leasehold for five years, Woodworking Co. v. Southwick, 119-611—property of corporation chartered to supply water to city, Pipe, etc., Co. v. Howland, 111-615.

Not subject to mechanic's lien—courthouse: Snow v. Comrs., 112-335—public school building, Hardware Co. v. Graded School, 150-680—property of municipal corporation, but laborers and material men, as beneficiaries of contract between municipality and contractor, can sue on contractor's bond, and municipality may be liable for any balance due contractor, Schefflow v. Pierce, 176-91. See Gastonia v. Engineering Co., 181-363. See, also, section 2445.

Where contractor undertakes to put up and complete building on undivided tract of 80 acres, the mechanic's lien extends to whole of tract, and it is no segregation that house and improvements enclosed by fence: Broyhill v. Gaither, 119-443.

As to agricultural liens on crops and sufficiency of description of land thereunder, see section 2480.

"WORK DONE." Work done must be actual, manual labor, done under contract for such labor: Bruce v. Mining Co., 147-642; Cook v. Ross, 117-193.

Statute includes the contractor, under whom his employees and agents work: Schefflow v. Pierce, 176-91; Lester v. Houston, 101-605—contractor has lien against railroad for work on construction, etc., Dunavant v. R. R., 122-999.

Semble, includes only services or labor for betterment of property on which it is bestowed; in other cases laborer must secure himself as at common law; Tedder v. R. R., 124-342.

Superintendent of laborers who does no manual labor himself is not entitled to lien: Cook v. Ross, 117-193. Caretaker has no lien: Bruce v. Mining Co., 147-642; Morrison v. Mining Co., 143-250. So overseer: Whitaker v. Smith, 81-340. So bookkeeper, though he occasionally did manual labor: Nash v. Southwick, 120-459.

MATERIAL FURNISHED. "Material furnished" means such material as enters into and becomes part of property and adds to its value: Coal Co. v. Electric Co., 118-232. These words mean something furnished to be appropriated on the land to some lawful purpose connected with the land: Pipe, etc., Co. v. Howland, 111-615. Semble, materials are not furnished hereunder unless actually appropriated to improvements on land; but where not so used nor understanding for such use, no lien arises: Lanier v. Bell, 81-337. This section: Fulp v. Power Co., 157-154. Poles, wires and appliances for carrying electricity held not material furnished: Ibid. So, steam engine, though built into wall: James v. Lumber Co., 122-157. So electric dynamo: Electric Co. v. Power Co., 122-599. Plans and specifications furnished by architect are not material hereunder: Stephens v. Hicks, 156-239. Whether coal furnished to factor a lien on product, quere: Norfleet v. Cotton Factory, 172-833.

Where subject-matter for which debt incurred keeps its identity it is not "material" within AMOUNT SECURED. Where contractor labors and furnishes material under entire and indivisible contract, his lien embraces entire outlay, whether in labor or material: Isler v. Dixon, 140-529; Broyhill v. Gaither, 119-443.

PRIORITIES. Lien attaches at the beginning of the work or of the furnishing of materials: McAdams v. Trust Co., 167-494; Cheesborough v. Sanatorium, 134-245; Burr v. Maultsby, 99-263.

Lien does not affect mortgages and encumbrances existing prior to lien's attaching, but is superior to those subsequently attaching: McAdams v. Trust Co., 167-494; Dunavant v. R. R., 122-999. Such lien entitled to no preference over prior mortgage as against mortgagee; would only be lien against mortgagor on his equity of redemption: Cox v. Lighting Co., 152-164.

Mechanic's lien hereunder is, under const., art. 10, s. 4, superior to homestead exemption of owner; but mere material lien is not entitled to the constitutional priority: Broyhill v. Gaither, 119-443; Cumming v. Bloodworth, 87-83.

As to priority between liens hereunder and corporate mortgages under section 1140: McAdams v. Trust Co., 167-494; Cox v. Lighting Co., 152-164; Moore v. Industrial Co., 138-304; Electric Co. v. Power Co., 122-599; James v. Lumber Co., 122-157; Coal Co. v. Electric Co., 118-232.

DECREEING LIEN. In action to recover for work and labor upon construction of house, court may, in judgment for amount due, decree lien on premises: Oakley v. Van Noppen, 95-60.

SECTION REFERRED TO: Harvey v. Johnson, 133-358; James v. Lumber Co., 122-160; Cameron v. Lumber Co., 118-267; Paper Co. v. Chronicle, 115-145; Cook v. Cobb, 101-69; Bank v. Mfg. Co., 96-309; McDougall v. 95-294.

2434. Buildings on married woman's land. The preceding section applies to the property of a married woman when it appears that such building was built or repaired on her land with her consent or procurement. In such case she shall be deemed to have contracted for such improvements.

Rev., s. 2016; Code, s. 1781; 1869-70, c. 206; 1901, c. 617.

Section is constitutional: Finger v. Hunter, 130-529. Lien under section is for all debts contracted for work and labor done on married women's property: Ball v. Paquin, 140-83. Written consent of husband not necessary to charge wife hereunder: Ball v. Paquin, 140-98; Finger v. Hunter, 130-529.

No lien on wife's land for improvements made by husband: Kearney v. Vann, 154-311; Anderson v. Anderson, 177-401. See Stephens v. Hicks, 156-239.

Where married woman contracted with her husband to repair her house, and he bought material, material man has no lien unless notice given before she paid husband in full: Payne v. Flack, 152-600. Before Martin act (section 2507), in absence of lien on married woman's separate property, contract void unless made as required by law: Stephens v. Hicks, 156-239—and before this section married woman could not subject her real property to lien for improvements, Weathers v. Borden, 124-610. See Green v. Bennett, 120-394; Thompson v. Taylor, 110-70; Weir v. Page, 109-220; Nicholson v. Nichols, 115-200.

2435. On personal property repaired. Any mechanic or artisan who makes, alters or repairs any article of personal property at the request of the owner or legal possessor of such property has a lien on such property so made, altered or repaired for his just and reasonable charge for his work done and material furnished, and may hold and retain possession of the same until such just and reasonable charges are paid; and if not paid for within thirty days, if it does not exceed fifty dollars, or within ninety days if over fifty dollars, after the work was done, such mechanic or artisan may proceed to sell the property so made, altered or repaired at public auction, by giving two weeks public notice of such sale by advertising in some newspaper in the county in which the work may have been done, or if there is no such newspaper, then by posting up notice of such sale in three of the most public places in the county, town or city in which the work was done, and the proceeds of the said sale shall be applied first to the discharge of the said lien and the expenses and costs of keeping and selling such property, and the remainder, if any, shall be paid over to the owner thereof.

Rev., s. 2017; Code, s. 1783; 1869-70, c. 206, s. 3.

Where A contracted with lumber company to cut, haul and raft logs standing on plaintiff's land, severance of the logs from the land converts them into personalty, and A is entitled to lien under this section on logs for labor in performing contract: Thomas v. Merrill, 169-623. See Huntsman v. Lumber Co., 122-583. Mere mortgagee of personal property in possession entitled to no lien: Block v. Dowd, 120-402.

Lien hereunder depends upon laborer's or artisan's possession of the chattel, and is lost when he surrenders possession: Tedder v. R. R., 124-342; Block v. Dowd, 120-402; McDougall v. Crapon, 95-292. See Thomas v. Merrill, 169-623—but lien is not lost unless the surrender is voluntary, Auto Co. v. Rudd, 176-497.

Statute gives right to enforce lien by sale: McDougall v. Crapon, 95-292. Sale restrained until existence of lien and amount of indebtedness are determined: Huntsman v. Lumber Co., 122-583.

Relation of lien hereunder to common-law lien for services: Thomas v. Merrill, 169-623; McDougall v. Crapon, 95-292.

Section cited: Glazener v. Lumber Co., 167-676.

2436. Laborer's lien on lumber and its products. Every person during the work of cutting or sawing logs into lumber, getting out wood pulp, acid wood or tan bark, has a lien upon the said lumber for the amount of wages due them, and the said lien shall have priority over all other claims or liens upon said lumber, except as against a purchaser for full value and without notice thereof: Provided, any such laborer whose wages for thirty or less number of days performed are due and unpaid shall file notice of such claim before the nearest justice of the peace in the county in which said work has been done, stating the number of days of labor performed, the price per day, and the place where the lumber is situate, and the person for whom said labor was performed, which said statement shall be signed by the said laborer or his attorney, and the said laborer shall also give to the owner thereof, within five days after the lien has been filed with the justice of the peace, as aforesaid, a copy of said notice as filed with the said justice of the peace. If the owner cannot be located, then notice shall be given by attaching said notice on the logs or lumber, wood pulp, acid wood or tan bark upon which the labor sued for was performed, and any person buying said lumber or logs, wood pulp, acid wood or tan bark after such notice has been filed with the nearest justice of the peace, shall be deemed to have bought the same with notice thereof, but no action shall be maintained against the owner of said logs or lumber, wood pulp, acid wood or tan bark or the purchaser thereof under the provisions of this section unless same is commenced within thirty days after notice is filed with the justice of the peace by such laborer as above provided.

1913, c. 150, s. 6.

Requisites for lien under section examined, and no lien unless claimant shows compliance with all requisites: Bryson v. Lumber Co., 171-700. Various mill hands in mill where lumber sawed held entitled to lien hereunder, but hands engaged in operating log train only not entitled: Hogsd v. Lumber Co., 170-529; s. c., sub nomine, Glazener v. Lumber Co., 167-676. Liens hereunder of laborers employed by contractor exist only when owner of the lumber on which the labor is bestowed is indebted to the contractor: Bryson v. Lumber Co., 171-700, and cases cited.

Notices required for, and priority of, lien: Bryson v. Lumber Co., 171-700; Glazener v. Lumber Co., 167-676.

Quere whether notice before justice of peace required when company operated by receiver under order of court: Walker v. Lumber Co., 170-460.

Observations on construction of section: Thomas v. Merrill, 169-623.

SUBCONTRACTORS', ETC., LIENS AND RIGHTS AGAINST OWNERS

2437. Lien given subcontractors, etc., on real estate. All subcontractors and laborers who are employed to furnish or who do furnish labor or material for the building, repairing or altering any house or other improvement on real estate, have a lien on said house and real estate for the amount of such labor done or material furnished, which lien shall be preferred to the mechanics' lien now provided by law, when notice thereof shall be given as hereinafter provided, which may be enforced as other liens in this chapter, except where it is otherwise provided; but the sum total of all the liens due subcontractors and material men shall not exceed the amount due the original contractor at the time of notice given.

Rev., s. 2019; Code, ss. 1801, 1803; 1880, c. 44, ss. 1, 3.

History of subcontractor's lien statutes: Ingold v. Hickory, 178-614; Mfg. Co. v. Andrews, 165-285; Lester v. Houston, 101-605.

The section enacts that the laborer and the material man may, by giving notice to the owner, have a lien on the property of the owner to the extent of the contract price; that the owner is liable for the amount due the contractor at the time of notice; and that when lien once acquired by notice, owner, as trustee, must distribute fund pro rata: Foundry Co. v. Aluminum Co., 172-704.

Lien obtained by filing notice or itemized statements before owner has paid contractor in full: West v. Laughinghouse, 174-214; Foundry Co. v. Aluminum Co., 172-704; Building Co. v. Hospital Co., 176-87; s. c., 174-57; Supply Co., v. Eastern Star Home, 163-513; Clark v. Edwards, 119-115; Pinkston v. Young, 104-102—whereupon owner becomes liable as trustee to the amount due contractor, Building Supplies Co. v. Hospital Co., 176-87; s. c., 174-57; Foundry Co. v. Aluminum Co., 172-704—for lien is limited to owner's indebtedness to contractor, Wood v. R. R., 131-48; Clark v. Edwards, 119-115—and owner not otherwise responsible to subcontractor or laborer, Wood v. R. R., 131-48.

By giving proper notice, subcontractor substituted for contractor as to amount due or to become due from owner, without regard to account between contractor and subcontractor: Brick Co. v. Pulley, 168-371; Granite Co. v. Bank, 172-354. See Powder Co. v. Denton, 176-426; Powell v. Lumber Co., 168-632.

Laborer's lien, or lien for materials, when filed, relates back and takes priority over all liens attaching subsequent to beginning work or furnishing first materials: Clark v. Edwards, 119-115; Lumber Co. v. Hotel Co., 109-658; Burr v. Maultsby, 99-263; Chadbourne v. Williams, 71-444.

Right to lien does not apply to public property, and right to payment out of funds depends on lien: Hutchinson v. Comrs., 172-844—though no lien may be filed against town, it may be liable to subcontractors for balance due contractor when proper notice given; and laborers and material men may sue on contractor's bond, Scheffow v. Pierce, 176-91.

Mere fact that laborers and subcontractors are working on buildings is not notice to owner not to pay contractor until he has ascertained how much is due by him to every subcontractor and laborer: Clark v. Edwards, 119-115.

Lien given by section does not supersede that in favor of contractor: Lester v. Houston, 101-605—but only gives it a preference to extent of amounts which may be due subcontractor, provided it does not exceed sum which may be due original contractor, Ibid.

Subcontractor may enforce lien for labor or materials against owner of property, though contract with principal contractor has not been completed: Lumber Co. v. Hotel Co., 109-658—or has been abandoned, Ibid.

Section merely referred to: Dunavant v. R. R., 122-999; Parsley v. David, 106-225.

Public laws 1911, c. 761, as to liens in certain counties, invalid: Supply Co. v. Eastern Star Co., 163-513.

2438. Notice to owner; liability. Any subcontractor, laborer or material man, who claims a lien as provided in the preceding section, may give notice to the owner or lessee of the real estate who makes the contract for such building or improvement at any time before the settlement with the contractor, and if the said owner or lessee refuses or neglects to retain out of the amount due the said contractor under the contract as much as is due or claimed by the subcontractor, laborer or material man, the subcontractor, laborer or material man may proceed to enforce his lien, and after such notice is given, no payment to the contractor shall be a credit on or discharge of the lien herein provided.

Rev., s. 2020; Code, s. 1802; 1880, c. 44, s. 2.

Lien acquired by notice to owner, and exists only from date of notice: Building Supplies Co. v. Hospital Co., 176-87; s. c., 174-57; Wood v. R. R., 131-48; Clark v. Edwards, 119-115; Pinkston v. Young, 104-102. And see cases infra this note. Mere knowledge that laborers at work or that materials furnished is not sufficient notice: Building Supplies Co. v.

Hospital Co., 176-87; s. c. 174-57; see Clark v. Edwards, 119-115. Notice held sufficient to establish lien: Building Corp. v. Jones, 174-57.

Notice must be given to owner before he pays contractor: Supply Co. v. Eastern Star Co., 163-513. Material man dealing with husband, who has contracted with his wife to build her house, must notify wife before she pays her husband: Payne v. Flack, 152-600.

Subcontractor can enforce lien against owner only to extent of sums due contractor at date of giving notice to owner of his claim: Clark v. Edwards, 119-115. Where one furnishes material to subcontractor and gives notice to owner, his right to recover depends on amount due contractor, not on amount due subcontractor: Powder Co. v. Denton, 176-426; Powell v. Lumber Co., 168-632; Brick Co. v. Pulley, 168-371. Relation of debtor and creditor exists between owner and subcontractor, or material man, only to extent of lien acquired by giving notice: Hardware Co. v. Graded School, 151-507; Hall v. Jones, 151-419.

Materials furnished must be to one engaged on the building and actually used in the building: Brick Co. v. Pulley, 168-371.

After notice to owner suit must be brought in six months; lien need not be filed with clerk: Granite Co. v. Bank, 172-354; Mfg. Co. v. Andrews, 165-285; Hildebrand v. Vanderbilt, 147-639. If after notice given lien lost by failure to sue in time, claimant may yet recover from owner his pro rata share of amount due contractor: Hildebrand v. Vanderbilt, 147-639.

Subcontractor may enforce lien for labor or materials against owner, though contract with principal contractor has not been completed or has been abandoned: Lumber Co. v. Hotel Co., 109-658. Contractor cannot sue owner for benefit of subcontractor without showing express trust: Perry v. Swanner, 150-141. Enforcement of subcontractor's lien for materials furnished: Bain v. Lamb, 167-304. Sufficiency of complaint in action to enforce material man's lien hereunder: Parsley v. David, 106-225. Action by owner against surety of defaulting contractor; items properly allowable as damages, etc.: Donlan v. Trust Co., 139-212.

Judgment against owner should declare only amount due for which execution may issue, and should not direct payment into court: Hildebrand v. Vanderbilt, 147-639.

Contractor necessary party to action to enforce lien of subcontractor: Lumber Co. v. Hotel Co., 109-658—but trustee in conveyance subject to lien is not, Ibid.

Section referred to: Pipe, etc., Co. v. Howland, 111-618; Lester v. Houston, 101-605. See infra this chapter, art. 8.

2439. Statement of contractor's indebtedness to be furnished to owner; effect. When any contractor, architect or other person makes a contract for building, altering or repairing any building or vessel, or for the construction or repair of a railroad, with the owner thereof, it is his duty to furnish to the owner or his agent, before receiving any part of the contract price, as it may become due, an itemized statement of the amount owing to any laborer, mechanic or artisan employed by such contractor, architect or other person, or to any person for materials furnished, and upon delivery to the owner or his agent of the itemized statement aforesaid, it is the duty of the owner to retain from the money then due the contractor a sum not exceeding the price contracted for, which will be sufficient to pay such laborer, artisan or mechanic for labor done, or such person for material furnished, which said amount the owner shall pay directly to the laborer, mechanic, artisan or person furnishing materials. The owner may retain in his hands until the contract is completed such sum as may have been agreed on between him and the contractor, architect or other person employing laborers, as a guaranty for the faithful performance of the contract by such contractor. When such contract has been performed by the contractor such fund reserved as a guaranty shall be liable to the payment of the sum due the laborer, mechanic or artisan for labor done, or the person furnishing the materials as hereinbefore provided.

Rev., s. 2021; 1887, c. 67; 1891, c. 203; 1899, c. 335; 1903, c. 478.

This and the following four sections (statute of 1887) provide an additional method of creating and enforcing a lien in favor of mechanics and laborers; the contractor is required to give owner notice of claims of subcontractors and others; but there is no lien until prescribed notice is given: Pinkston v. Young, 104-102. By giving notice claimant has double security, a lien upon property enforceable by suit, and to his share of money due from owner to contractor: Foundry Co., v. Aluminum Co., 172-704; West v. Laughinghouse, 174-214; Mfg. Co. v. Andrews, 165-285.

When statement is furnished by contractor, obligation arises on part of the owner which material man may enforce in his own name: Perry v. Swanner, 150-141—but obligation not debtor and creditor except to amount of lien acquired, Hardware Co. v. Graded School, 151-507. Lien only in favor of material man furnishing material to one having some contract relation to the work: Brick Co. v. Pulley, 168-371.

When lien fixed by notice, claimant may enforce it without regard to condition of account between contractor and subcontractor: Powell v. Lumber Co., 168-632; Brick Co. v. Pulley, 168-371.

It is duty of owner to retain out of amount due contractor sum to pay laborers and material men: Hildebrand v. Vanderbilt, 147-639.

Notice given by contractor to architect of owner of claims is not without further proof of agency sufficient to raise lien hereunder: Building Supplies Co. v. Hospital Co., 176-87.

Section not repealed by amendments to section 2444, contained in 1913, c. 150: Powder Co. v. Denton, 176-426.

2440. Laborer, etc., may furnish statement of claim to owner; effect. Any laborer, mechanic, artisan or person furnishing materials may furnish to such owner or his agents before he shall have paid the contractor an itemized statement of the amount owing to such laborer, mechanic or artisan employed by said contractor, architect or other person for work or labor on such building, vessel or railroad, and any person may furnish to such owner or his agents an itemized statement of the amount due him for materials furnished for such purposes. Upon the delivery of such notice to such owner or his agent the person giving such notice is entitled to all the liens and benefits conferred by law in as full and ample a manner as though the statement was furnished by the contractor, architect or such other person. And after the notice herein provided is given, no payment to the contractor shall be a credit or a discharge of the lien herein provided.

Rev., s. 2021; 1887, c. 67; 1891, c. 203; 1899, c. 335; 1903, c. 478; 1913, c. 150, s. 4.

See annotations under preceding section.

2441. Sums due by statement to constitute lien. The sums due to the laborer, mechanic or artisan for labor done, or due the person furnishing materials, as shown in the itemized statement rendered to the owner, shall be a lien on the building, vessel or railroad built, altered or repaired, without any lien being filed before a justice of the peace or the superior court..

Rev., s. 2022; 1887, c. 67, s. 2.

Section dispenses with necessity of filing itemized statements before justice of the peace or clerk: Pinkston v. Young, 104-102; Granite Co. v. Bank, 172-354; Hildebrand v. Vanderbilt, 147-639. Claim filed with owner constitutes lien on property to extent of amount due contractor: Foundry Co. v. Aluminum Co., 172-704.

2442. Where sums due contractor from owner insufficient; payment pro rata. If the amount due the contractor by the owner is insufficient to pay in full the laborer, mechanic or artisan, for his labor, and the person furnishing materials, for materials furnished, it is the duty of the owner to distribute the amount pro rata among the several claimants, as shown by the itemized statement furnished the owner, or of which notice has been given the owner by the claimant.

Rev., s. 2023; 1887, c. 67, s. 3; 1913, c. 150, s. 5.

Where there are several claims filed, distribution is pro rata: Foundry Co. v. Aluminum Co., 172-704; West v. Laughinghouse, 174-214; Mfg. Co. v. Andrews, 165-285. Lien properly perfected has priority over attachment lien: Granite Co. v. Bank, 172-354.

Section does not repeal the three preceding sections: Powder Co. v. Denton, 176-426—not in conflict with section 2471, Mfg. Co. v. Andrews, 165-285.

2443. Contractor failing to furnish statement, or not applying owner's payments to laborer's claims, misdemeanor. If any contractor or architect shall fail to furnish to the owner an itemized statement of the sums due to every one of the laborers, mechanics or artisans employed by him, or the amount due for materials, before receiving any part of the contract price, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. If any contractor shall fail to apply the contract price paid him by the owner or his agent to the payment of bills for labor and material, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Rev., s. 3663; 1887, c. 67, s. 4; 1913, c. 150, s. 8.

Referred to: Pinkston v. Young, 104-102.

2444. Laborer for railroad contractor may sue company; conditions of action. As often as any contractor for the construction of any part of a railroad which is in progress of construction is indebted to any laborer for thirty or less number of days labor performed in constructing said road, or is indebted for more than thirty days to any person furnishing material for the construction of said road, such laborer or material man may give notice of such indebtedness to said company in a manner herein provided, and said company shall thereupon become liable to pay such laborer or material man the amount so due for labor or material and action may be maintained against said company therefor. Such notice shall be given by said laborer to said company within twenty days after the performance of the number of days labor for which the claim is made, and such notice shall be given by the material man to said company within thirty days after the materials have been furnished. Such notice to be given by the laborer shall be in writing and shall state the amount and number of days labor and the time when the labor was performed for which the claim is made, and the name of the contractor from whom due, and shall be signed by such laborer or his attorney; and such notice of the material man shall be in writing and shall state the amount of material furnished and when furnished, and the name of the contractor to whom furnished and by whom due, and shall be signed by such material man or his attorney. The notice shall be served on an engineer, agent or superintendent employed by said company having charge of the section of road on which such labor was performed or material furnished, personally or by leaving the same at the office or usual place of business of said engineer, agent, or superintendent, with some person of suitable age. But no action shall be maintained against any company under the provisions of this section unless the same is commenced within ninety days after notice is given to the company by such laborer or material man as above provided.

Rev., s. 2018; Code, s. 1942; 1871-2, c. 138, s. 12; 1913, c. 150, s. 1.

Section considered with reference to sections 2439, 2440, 2470, 2474: Powder Co. v. Denton, 176-426.

A logging railroad is a railroad within this section: Carter v. Lumber Co., 160-8. Laborer seeking to subject railroad company hereunder must show substantial compliance with section: Moore v. R. R., 112-236. Privilege conferred by section restricted to laborers, and for work done for thirty days or less in constructing road, and company can in no event be held liable for payment of accounts due by contractors for materials: Ibid. Contractor or subcontractor entitled to file lien within one year of doing work or furnishing material: Dunavant v. R. R., 122-999. After complying with requirements of section, laborer can assign claim as debt either against employer or railroad company: Moore v. R. R., 112-236—and assignee can enforce claim, Ibid.

2445. Contractor on municipal building to give bond; action on bond. Every county, city, town or other municipal corporation which lets a contract for the building, repairing or altering any building, public road, or street, shall require the contractor for such work (when the contract price exceeds five hundred dollars) to execute bond with one or more solvent sureties before beginning any work under said contract, payable to said county, city, town or other municipal corporation, and conditioned for the payment of all labor done on and material and supplies furnished for the said work. The amount of the said bond to be given by said contractor shall be equal to the contract price up to two thousand dollars, and when the contract price is between two and ten thousand dollars the amount of said bond shall be two thousand dollars plus thirty-five per cent of the excess of the contract price over two thousand dollars and under ten thousand; when the contract is over ten thousand dollars the amount of the said bond shall be two thousand dollars plus twenty-five per cent of the excess of the contract price over the sum of two thousand dollars. If the official of the said county, city, town or other municipal corporation, whose duty it is to take said bond, fails to require the said bond herein provided to be given, he is guilty of a misdemeanor. Any laborer doing work on said building and material man furnishing material therefor and used therein, has the right to sue on said bond, the principal and sureties thereof, in the courts of this state having jurisdiction of the amount of said bond, and any number of laborers or material men whose claims are unpaid for work done and material furnished in said building have the right to join in one suit upon said bond for the recovery of the amounts due them respectively.

Section requires municipal corporation to take a bond and authorizes laborers and material men to sue on the bond, and a provision in the bond interfering with this right of action is invalid: Ingold v. Hickory, 178-614. Where bond taken from contractor by municipality was for protection of obligee alone, sureties are not liable to material men: McCausland v. Construction Co., 172-708. Semble, that section for protection of county, etc., and that subcontractors and material men acquire no rights thereunder: Fore v. Feimster, 171-551.

LIENS ON VESSELS

2446. For towage and for supplies at home port. Every vessel, boat, scow, lighter, flat, raft or other water craft is subject to a lien for the payment of towage done by any steamboat or tugboat; and every vessel and boat is subject to a lien for debts due for materials and supplies furnished to such vessel or boat in her home port. These liens shall be filed and enforced as is provided for other liens.

Rev., s. 2040; 1893, c. 357; 1909, c. 147.

2447. For labor in loading and unloading. Every vessel, her tackle, apparel and furniture is subject to a lien for all labor done by contractors or others in loading or discharging the cargo of such vessel, and also for all labor done by any subcontractor or laborer employed in discharging or loading any such vessel, when such labor is done under contract with a contractor or stevedore who may be employed by the master, agent or owner of such vessel.

Rev., s. 2041; Code, s. 1804; 1881, c. 356, s. 1.

2448. Filing lien; laborer's notice to master. The liens provided for in the preceding sections shall be filed as is provided for other liens. The subcontractor or laborer may give notice to the master, agent or owner of such vessel, that the contractor or stevedore is or will become indebted to him. It shall then be the duty of such master, agent or owner of such vessel to retain out of the amount due to such contractor or stevedore under his contract as much as is due or claimed by the person giving the notice, and after such notice is given no payment to the contractor or stevedore shall be a credit on or a discharge of the lien herein provided.

Rev., s. 2042; Code, s. 1805; 1881, c. 356, s. 2.

Section referred to: Pipe, etc., Co. v. Howland, 111-628.

2449. Enforcement of lien. The enforcement of such lien shall be by summons against the contractor or stevedore, and also against the master, agent or owner of such vessel, who made the contract with such contractor or stevedore, if over two hundred dollars, to be issued by the clerk of the superior court, and if under two hundred dollars, by a justice of the peace.

Rev., s. 2043; Code, s. 1806; 1881, c. 356, s. 3.

2450. Judgment against contractor binds master and vessel. The judgment against the contractor or stevedore shall also be a judgment against the master, agent or owner of such vessel, and also against such vessel itself, her tackle, apparel and furniture, which shall be seized, held and sold under execution for the satisfaction of such judgment.

Rev., s. 2044; Code, s. 1807; 1881, c. 356, s. 4.

2451. Liens not to exceed amount due contractor. The sum total of all the liens due to different subcontractors and laborers, performed for any contractor or stevedore under any contract with any master, agent or owner of any vessel, shall not exceed the amount due to the contractor or stevedore at the time of notice given to the owner, agent or master, or the amount due to the contractor or stevedore at the time of the service of summons upon the master, agent or owner, when no notice has been given.

Rev., s. 2045; Code, s. 1808; 1881, c. 356, s. 5.

Section referred to: Pipe, etc, Co. v. Howland, 111-628.

2452. Owner to see laborers paid. In all cases where steamships or vessels of any kind are loaded or unloaded or where any work is done in or about the same by the contractors to do the same known as stevedore or "boss stevedores," who in doing the same employ laborers to assist or do the work by the hour, day, week or month, it is the duty of the owner or agent of the vessel to see that the laborers employed in or about the same by the stevedore, contractor or "boss stevedore" are fully paid the wages that may be due such laborer before he makes final settlement with the contractor, stevedore or "boss stevedore."

Rev., s. 2046; 1887, c. 145, s. 1.

2453. Owner may refuse to settle with contractor till laborers paid. Any owner or agent referred to in the preceding section may refuse final settlement with the "boss stevedore" or contractor until he or they satisfy the said owner or agent, by written oath if necessary, that the same has been done.

Rev., s. 2047; 1887, c. 145, s. 2.

2454. Owner may pay orders for wages. It is lawful for the owner or agent of such vessel to pay off from time to time such orders for wages as may be due and given therefor in favor of the laborers by the contractor or stevedore, which on final settlement may be deducted from the contract price.

Rev., s. 2048; 1887, c. 145, s. 3.

2455. Laborer's right of action against owner. Any owner or agent of such vessel who neglects or refuses to comply with the preceding provisions is liable to such laborer in a civil action for the amount of the wages so due him by the contractor, stevedore or "boss stevedore."

Rev., s. 2049; 1887, c. 145, s. 4.

2456. Stevedore's false oath punishable as perjury. If any contractor, stevedore or boss stevedore shall make any false oath or false representation with intent to wrong, cheat or defraud any laborer in violation of the four preceding sections, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished as is now prescribed by law for perjury.

Rev., s. 3613; 1887, c. 145, s. 5.

2457. Stevedores to be licensed; omission misdemeanor. No person shall engage in the business of loading or unloading vessels upon contract, nor shall any person solicit or make any contract for himself or for any other person to load or unload any vessel either by day's work or by the job, without having previously obtained a license therefor, in the manner provided by law for other licenses for trades and occupations. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Rev., ss. 2050, 3791; 1891, c. 450; 1899, c. 595.

2458. Tax and bond on procuring license. Before the sheriff shall issue the said license the applicant shall pay to the sheriff an annual tax of fifty dollars, and shall execute a bond with two or more approved sureties in the sum of two thousand dollars, payable to the state of North Carolina, and conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties and the due and lawful payment of all sums due to laborers assisting in the work of loading or unloading any vessels upon which the applicant may be engaged. And every bond so taken shall be renewed annually, and shall be filed with and preserved by the register of deeds in trust for every person that shall be injured by the breach of his contracts, who may severally bring suit thereon for the damages by each one sustained.

Rev., s. 2051; 1891, c. 450.

AGRICULTURAL LIENS FOR ADVANCES

2480. Lien on crops for advances. If any person makes any advance either in money or supplies to any person who is engaged in or about to engage in the cultivation of the soil, the person making the advance is entitled to a lien on the crops made during the year upon the land in the cultivation of which the advance has been expended, in preference to all other liens, except the laborer's and landlord's liens, to the extent of such advance. Before any advance is made an agreement in writing for the advance shall be entered into, specifying the amount to be advanced, or fixing a limit beyond which the advance, if made from time to time during the year, shall not go; and this agreement shall be registered in the office of the register of the county where the person advanced resides within thirty days after its date.

Rev., s. 2052; Code, s. 1799; 1893, c. 9; 1866-7, c. 1, s. 1; 1872-3, c. 133, s. 1.

As to husband's creating lien on crop raised on wife's land, see Loftin v. Crossland, 94-76; Bray v. Carter, 115-16; Rawlings v. Neal, 126-271; Wells v. Batts, 112-283; Branch v. Ward, 114-148; Guano Co. v. Colwell, 177-218.

Section has no application in the absence of a claim for its special priorities: Odom v. Clark, 146-544.

Merchant gets nothing when tenant abandons crop before maturity: Beacom v. Boing, 126-136; Thigpen v. Leigh, 93-48.

Registration of mortgage not essential to validity of lien as between parties thereto: Reese v. Cole, 93-87. Quere, whether compliance with other requirements contained in section necessary between parties: Ibid.

As to parol evidence to show that supplies furnished after execution of lien, see Meekins v. Walker, 119-46.

Restrictive provisions of section are for security of creditors and others dealing with debtor: Nichols v. Speller, 120-79; Reese v. Cole, 93-87.

THE AGREEMENT; FORM AND SUFFICIENCY OF. No particular form necessary: Townsend v. McKinnon, 98-103. Agreement must be in writing: Patapasco v. Magee, 86-350—and strictly conform to statute, Ibid; Rawlings v. Hunt, 90-270; Townsend v. McKinnon, 98-103—and must be executed before advances are made or supplies furnished, Patapasco v. Magee, 86-350; Knight v. Rountree, 99-389; Meekins v. Walker, 119-46; Clark v. Farrar, 74-686; Harris v. Jones, 83-317; but see Reese v. Cole, 93-87. It must be for advances of money or supplies, made to the person engaged or about to engage in cultivation of soil for the cultivation of the crop of that year: Clark v. Farrar, 74-686; Loftin v. Hines, 107-360; Wooten v. Hill, 98-48; Woodlief v. Harris, 95-211. Where agreement, in form of chattel mortgage, held sufficient as an agricultural lien for advancements: Townsend v. McKinnon, 98-103. Agricultural lien will not be allowed to operate as a mortgage in certain cases: Clark v. Farrar, 74-686; Patapasco v. Magee, 86-350—but where instrument intended by parties to operate as agricultural lien, but it fails to set out some essential matter, it will be given effect as a common-law mortgage, if in form sufficient, Spivey v. Grant, 96-214. Instrument may be so framed as to operate in one part as a mortgage and in another part as an agricultural lien: Rawlings v. Hunt, 90-270. Agricultural lien and mortgage may be created by same instrument: Wooten v. Hill, 98-48. For cases on question as to sufficiency of description of land on which crop to be grown, see Perry v. Bragg, 109-303; Weil v. Flowers, 109-212; Brown v. Miller, 108-395; Gwathney v. Etheridge, 99-571; Hurley v. Ray, 160-376.

Where land fully described, and in same instrument it says "and upon any other land I may cultivate in county," the lien is good as to land described, but not as to any other: Gwathney v. Etheridge, 99-571; Perry v. Bragg, 109-303; Weil v. Flowers, 109-212; Crinkley v. Egerton, 113-142. Land on which crop to be grown must be identified at time lien created: Gwathney v. Etheridge, 99-571; Hurley v. Ray, 160-376. Power of sale upon default in paying advances inserted in instrument giving lien upon crops, does not invalidate instrument: Crinkley v. Egerton, 113-142.

Instrument which gives lien on crop for supplies to be furnished in making a crop and also conveys personal property as additional security, with ordinary powers of sale, is valid both as a chattel mortgage and as an agricultural lien: Nichols v. Speller, 120-75.

Where words of grant in an instrument are that grantor "conveys a lien upon each and every of said crop," to be made upon certain land, such words will constitute valid mortgage upon crops, although not planted at time when such instrument is executed and registered: Harris v. Jones, 83-317.

WHAT ARE ADVANCES HEREUNDER. See under section 2355. As to whether a mule is an advancement, see Branch v. Galloway, 105-193. Person who gives mortgage on crops to obtain supplies under section estopped from asserting that articles which he received as compliance with contract are not "supplies" within meaning of section: Womble v. Leach, 83-84—and a second mortgagee who acquires an interest in crop after such advances made is also bound by such admission, Ibid. Supplies necessary to make and save crop are such articles as are in good faith furnished to and received by tenant for that purpose: Ledbetter v. Quick, 90-276.

NATURE, VALIDITY AND EXTENT OF LIEN. The lien only extends to the crop of the year for which advances made: Clark v. Farrar, 74-686. Between parties, in absence of fraud and compulsion, lien attaches for dry goods, shoes, tobacco, powders, snuff and candy, without showing that such articles were actually used in making crop: Nichols v. Speller, 120-75.

Validity of lien not affected by fact that land upon which crop planted was, while crop growing, recovered from person giving lien: Brown v. Miller, 108-375.

Section intended to give lien a "preference to all other liens existing or otherwise" to extent of such advance: Nichols v. Speller, 120-75—and section should be strictly construed when rights of other creditors intervene, Ibid. Mortgage on crop not expressed to be for advances to be made, and not recorded in thirty days after its execution, has no rights as agricultural lien under section: Cooper v. Kimball, 123-120. Where agricultural lien made by vendee who has paid only portion of purchase money, of which vendor has notice, but makes no objection, his assent to lien presumed: Dail v. Freeman, 92-351.

Agreement purporting on its face to be agricultural lien, only for future advances, cannot be supported as a mortgage as against purchaser for a different purpose and founded on consideration not expressed, but concealed or disguised in instrument: Clark v. Farrar, 74-686. Crop lien to secure agricultural advances under section valid inter partes, though not registered within thirty days as required by section: Gay v. Nash, 78-100. One who advances money or supplies on agricultural lien for making a crop not bound to see that same are used on farm: Nichols v. Speller, 120-75.

PRIORITY BETWEEN LIENS. As to landlord's lien for rent and advances being prior to agricultural lien hereunder, see section 2356. As to crop liens given by mortgagors or trustors in possession taking priority over mortgage and deed in trust, see section 2481.

When landlord releases his lien on a part of the crop, the next lien for advancements applies as against the rights of third persons: White v. Winslow, 163-40.

Where mortgage given on crop and agricultural lien thereafter executed which recites that lienor is to pay certain amount out of crops, lienor holds crop subject to mortgage debt: Brasfield v. Powell, 117-140. Subsequent mortgage on same property given to secure advancements of supplies, there being nothing to show for what purpose supplies furnished, does not create prior lien: Brown v. Miller, 108-395. Where two mortgages on crop of cotton, and first mortgagee advanced money in order to save crop and prepare it for market, in excess of amount secured by mortgage, not entitled to same to exclusion of second mortgage: Weathersbee v. Farrar, 97-106.

Agricultural lien duly executed and registered takes precedence of mortgage of prior date and registration upon "crop" therein subjected to extent of advances made: Wooten v. Hill, 98-48. Where tenant makes agricultural lien and afterwards land is sold under execution as property of landlord, owner of lien has right to crop superior to purchaser at execution sale: Dail v. Freeman, 92-351. Lien of laborer has precedence over agricultural liens made subsequent to his contract, but before crop harvested: Rouse v. Wooten, 104-229. Mortgage given by tenant to third person on his crop produced on certain farm does not give lien on rents paid by sub-tenant of portion of farm, where such rents assigned before execution of mortgage: Nordleet v. Baker, 131-99.

As to priority of landlord's lien over lien given by section, see Ford v. Green, 121-70; Spruill v. Arrington, 109-192; Fleming v. Davenport, 116-153; Ballard v. Johnson, 114-141; Thigpen v. Maget, 107-39; Branch v. Galloway, 105-193; Brewer v. Chappell, 101-251; Wooten v. Hill, 98-48; Thigpen v. Leigh, 93-47; Ledbetter v. Quick, 90-276; Harrison v. Ricks, 71-9.

2481. Contract for advances by mortgagor in possession. The preceding section shall apply to all contracts made for the advancement of money and supplies, or either, for the purposes herein specified by mortgagors or trustors who may be in possession of the lands mortgaged or conveyed in trust at the time of the making of the contract for such advancement of money or supplies, either in case the debts secured in said mortgage or deed of trust be due or not.

Rev., s. 2053; 1889, c. 476.

When mortgagor in possession has given lien on crops for advances to aid in cultivating same, such lien superior to that of mortgagee of land: Hinton v. Walston, 115-7; Carr v.

Dail, 141-284; McNair v. Pope, 104-350; Killebrew v. Hines, 104-182; even though lien improperly registered, Carr v. Dail, 114-284; Killebrew v. Hines, 104-182; but see Brewer v. Chappell, 101-251.

2482. Price to be charged for articles advanced limited. In order to be entitled to the benefits of the lien on crops in favor of landlords and other persons advancing supplies under the article, Agricultural Tenancies, of the chapter, Landlord and Tenant, and under the present article, or on a chattel mortgage on crops, such landlord or person shall charge for such supplies a price or prices of not more than ten per cent over the retail cash price or prices of the article or articles advanced, and the said ten per cent shall be in lieu of interest on the debt for such advances. If more than ten per cent over the retail cash price is charged on any advances made under the lien or mortgage given on the crop, then the lien or mortgage shall be null and void as to the article or articles upon which such overcharge is made. At the time of each sale there shall be delivered to the purchaser a memorandum showing the cash prices of the articles advanced.

1917, c. 134, s. 1.

2483. "Cash prices" defined and determined. In the case of retail merchants, the retail cash price or prices shall be the regular cash price or prices charged by the same merchant to cash customers for the same article or articles in like quantities at the same time. In the case of advances of supplies by landlords or other persons not engaged in business as retail merchants, or by retail merchants who have no regular cash prices, if the prices charged are called into question by the purchaser the retail cash price or prices of the supplies advanced may be determined by taking the average between the cash price or prices for the same class or classes of goods of two neighboring merchants, one selected by the landlord or other person making the advance and the other by the one to whom the advance is made.

1917, c. 134, s. 2.

2484. Person advanced not estopped by agreement. No agreement or understanding between the parties as to the price or prices to be charged shall work an estoppel against the person to whom supplies have been advanced from showing that the price or prices charged were in fact more than ten per cent over the average retail cash price or prices in that locality at the time the advance or advances were made. If the price or prices charged by the merchants or landlord were in fact more than ten per cent, then the lien shall be null and void as to the article or articles upon which such overcharge is made.

1917, c. 134, s. 2.

2485. Commission in lieu of interest, where advance in money. Any person, firm or corporation, including any bank or credit union, making any advancement in money to any person for the purpose of enabling such person to cultivate a crop, and taking as sole security for the advance so made a lien or mortgage on the crops to be cultivated and the personal property of the person to whom the advances are made, may charge, in lieu of interest, a commission of not more than ten per cent of the amount of money actually advanced: Provided, that money advanced under the provisions of this section shall be advanced in installments agreed upon at the time of the contract, and the ten per cent commission herein allowed shall not be deducted, but shall be added to the amount of money agreed to be advanced.

1917, c. 134, s. 3.

2486. Disposition of commission, where advanced by credit union. In case the money is advanced by a credit union, the funds derived from the ten per cent commission allowed in the preceding section shall be used to pay such interest as the union may pay for the money borrowed by it for the benefit of its members, and to cover losses sustained by the union on account of loans made to members, and to further cover any reasonable expenses incurred by the union in connection with the loans made to members, and the balance of said fund shall be returned to the borrowers at the end of each year.

1917, c. 134, s. 4.

2487. Purchasers for value protected. All liens or mortgages made under the provisions of this article shall be valid for their face value in the hands of purchasers for value and before maturity, even though the charges made are in excess of those allowed herein; but in such cases the party to whom the advances are made has the right to recover from the party making the advances any sum he may be compelled to pay a third party in excess of the charges allowed by this article.

1917, c. 134, ss. 5, 6.

2488. Crop seized and sold to preserve lien. If the person making such advances makes an affidavit before the clerk of the superior court of the county in which such crops are, that the amount secured by said lien for such advances, or any part thereof, is due and unpaid, that the person to whom such advances have been made, or any other person having the said crop in his possession, is about to sell or dispose of his crop, or in any other way is about to defeat the lien hereinbefore provided for, accompanied with a statement of the amount then due, it is lawful for him to issue his warrant, directed to any of the sheriffs of this state, requiring them to seize the said crop, and, after due notice, sell the same for cash and pay over the net proceeds thereof, or so much thereof as may be necessary in the extinguishment of the amount then due. This proceeding shall not affect the rights of landlords or laborers.

Rev., s. 2054; Code, s. 1800; 1893, c. 9; 1866-7, c. 1, s. 2; 1872-3, c. 133, s. 2; 1883, c. 88.

Clerk superior court has power to revoke and supersede warrant issued under section, where same improvidently granted: Cottingham v. McKay, 86-241. Where, in proceeding under section, money arising from the sale of crop paid into court and proceeding dismissed, court has the power to order a return of the money to the defendant, although the plaintiff has instituted another action and files an affidavit that defendant is insolvent: Ibid. Where defendant denies that there is anything due for advances and there is a general verdict for plaintiff, it is error in court to refuse judgment because jury failed to assess damages: Gay v. Nash, 84-333. Not necessary to regularity of proceeding under section to enforce lien that summons should be issued to defendant: Thomas v. Campbell, 74-787.

Section merely referred to in Crinkley v. Egerton, 113-146; Foundry Co. v. Howland, 111-627; Harrison v. Ricks, 71-9.

2489. Lienor's claim disputed; proceeds of sale held; issue made for trial. If the person to whom the advances have been made, or who claims an interest in the crops, within thirty days after such sale has been made, gives notice in writing to the sheriff, accompanied with an affidavit, to the effect that the amount claimed is not justly due, it is the duty of the sheriff to hold the proceeds of such sale subject to the decision of the court upon an issue which shall be made up and set for trial at the next succeeding term of the superior court for the county in which the person to whom such advances have been made resides.

Rev., s. 2054; Code, s. 1800; 1866-7, c. 1, s. 2; 1872-3, c. 133, s. 2; 1883, c. 88; 1893, c. 9.

2490. Local: Short form of liens. For the purpose of creating a valid agricultural lien under the preceding sections for supplies to be advanced, and also to constitute a valid chattel mortgage as additional security thereto, and to secure a pre-existing debt, the following or a substantially similar form shall be deemed sufficient and for those purposes legally effective, in the counties of Alamance, Alleghany, Anson, Ashe, Beaufort, Bladen, Brunswick, Buncombe, Burke, Cabarrus, Carteret, Caswell, Catawba, Chowan, Columbus, Craven, Cumberland, Davie, Davidson, Duplin, Durham, Edgecombe, Forsyth, Gaston, Gates, Granville, Halifax, Harnett, Hertford, Hyde, Iredell, Johnston, Jones, Lenoir, Lincoln, Martin, McDowell, Mecklenburg, Moore, Nash, New Hanover, Northampton, Onslow, Pender, Pamlico, Person, Pitt, Polk, Richmond, Robeson, Rockingham, Rowan, Rutherford, Sampson, Scotland, Transylvania, Tyrrell, Union, Vance, Wake, Watauga, Washington, Wayne and Wilson:

North Carolina, County.

Whereas, ha. agreed to make advances to for the purpose of enabling said to cultivate the lands herein after described during the year 19.... the amount of said advances not to exceed dollars; and,

Whereas, said is indebted to said in the further sum of dollars now due; now, therefore, in order to secure the payment of the same the said do. hereby convey to said all the crops of every description which may be raised during the year 19.... on the following lands in County, North Carolina, Township, adjoining the lands of and also the following other property, viz.:

And if by the day of 19...., said fail.. to pay said indebtedness, then said may foreclose this lien as provided in section two thousand four hundred and eighty-eight of the Consolidated Statutes or otherwise, and may sell said crops and other property after ten days notice posted at the courthouse door and three other public places in said county, and apply the proceeds to the payment of said indebtedness and all costs and expenses of executing this conveyance, and pay the surplus to said and the said hereby represents that said crops and other property are the absolute property of and free from encumbrance

Witness hand.. and seal, this the day of 19....
Witness:

....., owner of the lands described in the foregoing instrument, in consideration of the advances to be made, as therein provided, do. hereby agree to waive and release my lien as landlord upon said crops to the extent of said advances made to said

This the day of 19....
Witness: (Seal.)

The foregoing certificate of a of County, is adjudged to be correct. Let the instrument with the certificate be registered.

This the day of 19....
..... Clerk Superior Court.

Rev., s. 2055; 1899, cc. 17, 247; 1901, cc. 329, 704; 1903, c. 489; 1905, cc. 226, 319; 1907, c. 843; 1909, c. 532; P. L. 1913, c. 49.

No particular form is required; the instrument is construed to effectuate the intention: Jones v. McCormick, 174-82.

2491. Local: Rights on lienee's failure to cultivate. If any person in the counties mentioned in the preceding section, after executing a lien as afore-said for advances, fails to cultivate the lands described therein, or does any other act calculated to impair the security therein given, then the person to whom the lien was executed is relieved from any further obligation to furnish supplies, and the debts and advances theretofore made become due and collectible at once, and the person to whom the instrument was executed may proceed to take possession of, cultivate and harvest said crops, and to sell the other property described therein. It is not necessary to incorporate such power in the instrument, but this section is sufficient authority for the same. The sale of any property described in any instrument executed under the provisions of this chapter may be made at any place in the county where such property is situated after ten days notice published at the courthouse door and three other public places in said county.

Rev., s. 2056; 1899, c. 17, s. 3; 1901, c. 329, s. 3.

2492. Local: Commissioners to furnish blank records. The board of commissioners of the said counties shall have record books made with the aforesaid forms printed therein, and the cost of said books and of the printing of said forms, and of such other said books as may be hereafter required, shall be paid by the respective counties, and furnished to the register of deeds.

Rev., s. 2057; 1899, c. 17, s. 4; 1901, c. 329, s. 4.

For fees for probating and registering lien bonds, see sections 3903, 3904, 3906, 3907. For laborer's lien on corporate assets, see section 1197. For power to take crops, see sections 830, 2488. For landlord's lien, see section 2355. For lien of docketed judgment, see section 614. For lien of docketed judgments of justices of the peace, see section 1517. For lien upon land for improvements made, see section 703. Debts which are liens on decedent's property paid by administrator, see section 93.

1197. Wages for two months lien on assets. In case of the insolvency of a corporation all persons doing labor or service of whatever character in its regular employment have a lien upon the assets thereof for the amount of wages due to them for all labor, work, and services rendered within two months next preceding the date when proceedings in insolvency were actually instituted and begun against the corporation, which lien is prior to all other liens that can be acquired against such assets.

Rev., s. 1206; 1901, c. 2, s. 87.

Lien given by statute recognized: Riley v. Sears, 156-267. Contractors not entitled to lien as laborers: Iron Co. v. Bridge Co., 169-512. Officers and owners of corporation not entitled to lien hereunder: Alexander v. Farrow, 151-320. Lien does not attach to property not belonging to corporation: Roberts v. Mfg. Co., 169-27—does not have priority over mortgage on property when acquired by corporation: Humphrey v. Lumber Co., 174-514. Notice of lien not required to be filed: Walker v. Lumber Co., 170-460. Lien herein given does not destroy lien for labor after company in hands of receiver: Ibid. Bankruptcy proceeding works dissolution unless statutory conditions complied with: Stagg v. Lumber Co., 171-533. Mortgaged property subject to execution for labor, etc., see section 1140 and cases cited there.

VAGRANTS AND TRAMPS

4459. Persons classed as vagrants. If any person shall come within any of the following classes, he shall be deemed a vagrant, and shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisoned not exceeding thirty days: Provided, however, that this limitation of punishment shall not be binding except in cases of a first offense, and in all other cases such person may be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court.

1. Persons wandering or strolling about in idleness who are able to work and have no property to support them.

2. Persons leading an idle, immoral or profligate life, who have no property to support them and who are able to work and do not work.

3. All persons able to work having no property to support them and who have not some visible and known means of a fair, honest and reputable livelihood.

4. Persons having a fixed abode who have no visible property to support them and who live by stealing or by trading in, bartering for or buying stolen property.

5. Professional gamblers living in idleness.

6. All able-bodied men having no other visible means of support who shall live in idleness upon the wages or earnings of their mother, wife or minor children, except of male children over eighteen years old.

7. Keepers and inmates of bawdy-houses, assignation houses, lewd and disorderly houses, and other places where illegal sexual intercourse is habitually carried on: Provided, that nothing here is intended or shall be construed as abolishing the crime of keeping a bawdy-house, or lessening the punishment by law for such crime.

Rev., s. 3740; 1905, c. 391; 1907, c. 1012, s. 1; 1913, c. 75; 1915, c. 1.

Under subsection 7 reputation of house may be considered in evidence: State v. Price, 175-804. The circumstances with reputation of house may show guilt of vagrancy: Ibid. Compare under act 1866, ch. 42, State v. Custer, 65-339.

4461. Tramp defined and punishment provided; certain persons excepted.

If any person shall go about from place to place begging or subsisting on charity, he shall be denominated a tramp, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days: Provided, that any person who shall furnish satisfactory evidence of good character shall be discharged without cost. Any act of begging or vagrancy by any person, unless a well-known object of charity, shall be evidence that the person committing the same is a tramp. This section shall not apply to any woman, to any minor under the age of fourteen years, or to any blind person.

Rev., s. 3735; Code, ss. 3828, 3829, 3831, 3833; 1897, c. 268; 1879, c. 198, ss. 1, 4, 6.

4462. Trespassing and the carrying of dangerous weapons by tramps.

If any tramp shall enter any dwelling-house or kindle any fire on the land of another without the consent of the owner or occupant thereof, or shall kindle a fire on any highway, or shall be found carrying any firearm or other dangerous weapon, or shall threaten to do any injury to the person, or to the real or personal estate, of another, he shall be punished by imprisonment at the discretion of the court, not to exceed twelve months.

Rev., s. 3736; Code, s. 3829; 1879, c. 198, s. 2.

4463. Malicious injuries by tramps to persons and property. If any tramp shall wilfully and maliciously do any injury to the person, or to the real or personal estate, of another, he shall be punished by imprisonment, at the discretion of the court, not to exceed three years.

Rev., s. 3737; Code, s. 3830; 1879, c. 198, s. 3.

4464. Arrest of tramps by persons who are not officers. Any person, upon a view of any offense described in the three preceding sections, shall cause the offender to be arrested upon a warrant and taken before some justice of the place, or he may apprehend the offender and take him before a justice of the peace, for examination, and, on his conviction, he shall be entitled to the same fee as a sheriff.

Rev., s. 3738; Code, s. 3832; 1879, c. 198, s. 5.

OPERATION OF MINES

6896. Lessor not held partner of lessee. No lessor of property, real or personal, for mining purposes, although the lessor may receive an uncertain sum of the proceeds or net profits, or any other consideration, which, though uncertain at first, may afterwards become certain, shall be held as a partner of the lessee; nor shall any of the legal or equitable relations or liabilities of copartners exist between them, unless it is so stipulated in the contract between the lessor and lessee.

Rev., s. 4930; Code, s. 3292; R. C., c. 72; 1830, c. 46.

6897. Minors under sixteen not to be employed. No minor under sixteen years of age shall be allowed to work in any mine, and in all cases of minors applying for work the agent of such mine shall see that the provisions of this section are not violated; and the inspector may, when doubt exists as to the age of any person found working in any mine, examine under oath such persons and his parents, or other witnesses, as to his age.

Rev., s. 4931; 1897, c. 251, s. 7; 1919, c. 100, s. 6.

6898. Operator to furnish timber. The owner, agent, or operator of every coal mine shall keep a supply of timber constantly on hand, and shall deliver the same to the working place of the miner, and no miner shall be held responsible for accident which may occur in the mine where the provisions of this section have not been complied with by the owner, agent, or operator thereof, resulting directly or indirectly from the failure to deliver such timber.

Rev., s. 4932; 1897, c. 251, s. 8.

6899. Unused mines to be fenced. All underground entrances to any place not in actual course of working or extension shall be properly fenced across the whole width of such entrance so as to prevent persons from inadvertently entering the same.

Rev., s. 4933; 1897, c. 251, s. 5.

6900. Means of ingress and egress provided. No owner or agent of any coal mine worked by shaft shall permit any person to work therein unless there are, to every seam of coal worked in such mine, at least two separate outlets, separated by natural strata of not less than one hundred feet in breadth, by which shafts or outlets distinct means of ingress and egress are always available to the persons employed in the mine; but it is not necessary for the two outlets to belong to the same mine if the persons employed therein have safe, ready, and available means of ingress or egress by not less than two openings. This section shall not apply to opening a new mine while being worked for the purpose of making communications between the two outlets, so long as not more than twenty persons are employed at one time in such mine; neither shall it apply to any mine or part of a mine in which the second outlet has been rendered unavailable by reason of the final robbing of pillars previous to abandonment, as long as not more than twenty persons are employed therein at any one time. The cage or cages and other means of egress shall at all times be available for the persons employed when there is no second outlet. The escapement shafts shall be fitted with safe and available appliances, which shall always be kept in a safe condition, by which the persons employed in the mine may readily escape in case an accident occurs; and in no case shall an air shaft with a ventilating furnace at the bottom be construed to be an escapement shaft within the meaning of this section. To all other coal mines, whether slopes or drifts, two such openings or outlets must be provided within twelve months after shipments of coal have commenced from such mine; and in case such outlets are not provided as herein stipulated, it shall not be lawful for the agent or owner of such slope or drift to permit more than ten persons to work therein at any one time.

Rev., s. 4934; 1897, c. 251, s. 4.

Defective hoisting appliance causing death of workman: Hardister v. Richardson, 169-186.

6901. Hoisting engines; how operated. No owner or agent of any mine operated by a shaft or slope shall place in charge of any engine used for lowering into or hoisting out of mines persons employed therein any but experienced, competent, and sober engineers, and no engineers in charge of such engine shall allow any persons except as may be deputed for such purposes by the owner or agent to interfere with it or any part of the machinery, and no person shall interfere or in any way intimidate the engineer in the discharge of his duties, and in no case shall more than six men ride on any cage or car at one time, and no person shall ride upon a loaded cage or car in any shaft or slope.

Rev., s. 4935; 1897, c. 251, s. 6; 1911, c. 183.

6902. Ventilation. The owner or agent of any coal mine, whether shaft, slope, or drift, shall provide and maintain for every such mine an amount of ventilation of not less than one hundred cubic feet per minute per person employed in such mine, which shall be circulated and distributed throughout the mine in such a manner as to dilute, render harmless and expel the poisonous and noxious gases from every working place in the mine. No working place shall be driven more than sixty feet in advance of a break-through or airway, and all break-throughs or airways, except those last made near the working places of the mine, shall be closed up by brattice trap-doors, or otherwise, so that the currents of air in circulation in the mine may spread to the interior of the mine when the persons employed in such mine are at work. All mines governed by this chapter shall be provided with artificial means of producing ventilation, such as forcing or suction fans, exhaust steam furnaces, or other contrivances of such capacity and power as to produce and maintain an abundant supply of air, and all mines generating fire damp shall be kept free from standing gas.

Rev., s. 4936; 1897, c. 251, s. 5.

6903. Daily examinations; safety lamps. Every working place shall be examined every morning with a safety lamp by a competent person before any workmen are allowed to enter the mine. All safety lamps used in examining mines, or for working therein, shall be the property of the operator of the mine, and a competent person shall be appointed, who shall examine every safety lamp before it is taken into the workings for use, and ascertain it to be clean, safe and securely locked, and safety lamps shall not be used until they have been so examined and found safe and clean and securely locked, unless permission be first given by the mine foreman to to have the lamps used unlocked. No one except the duly authorized person shall have in his possession a key, or any other contrivance, for the purpose of unlocking any safety lamp in any mine where locked lamps are used. No matches or any other apparatus for striking lights shall be taken into any mine, or parts thereof, except under the direction of the mine foreman.

Rev., s. 4937; 1897, c. 251, ss. 5, 6.

6904. Report of ventilation. The mine foreman shall measure the ventilation at least once a week, at the inlet and outlet, and also at or near the face of all the entries, and the measurement of air so made shall be noted on blanks furnished by the inspector; and on the first day of each month the mine boss of each mine shall sign one of such blanks, properly filled with the actual measurement, and present the same to the inspector.

Rev., s. 4938; 1897, c. 251, s. 6.

6905. Notice of opening or changing mines given. The owner, agent, or manager of any mine shall give notice to the inspector in the following cases: 1. When any working is commenced for the purpose of opening a new shaft, slope, or mine, to which this chapter applies. 2. When any mine is abandoned, or the working thereof discontinued. 3. When the working of any mine is recommenced after an abandonment or discontinuance for a period exceeding three months. 4. When a squeeze or crush, or any other cause or change, may seem to affect the safety of persons employed in the mine, or when fire occurs.

Rev., s. 4939; 1897, c. 251, s. 7.

6906. Notice of accidents given. The owner, agent, or manager of every mine shall, within twenty-four hours next after any accident or explosion, whereby loss of life or personal injury may have been occasioned, send notice, in writing, by mail or otherwise, to the inspector, and shall specify in such notice the character and cause of the accident, and the name or names of the persons killed and injured, with the extent and nature of the injuries sustained. When any personal injury of which notice is required to be sent under this section results in the death of the person injured, notice in writing shall be sent to the inspector within twenty-four hours after such death comes to the knowledge of the owner, agent, or manager; and when loss of life occurs in any mine by explosion, or accident, or results from personal injuries so received, the owner, agent, or manager of such mine shall notify the coroner of the county in which such mine is situated, and the coroner shall hold an inquest upon the body of the person whose death has been thus caused, and inquire carefully into the cause thereof, and return a copy of the finding of the jury and all the testimony to the inspector.

Rev., s. 4940; 1897, c. 251, s. 6.

6907. Report to inspector. The owner, lessee, or agent in charge of any mine, any limestone quarry, or who is engaged in mining or producing any mineral whatsoever in this state, shall, on or before the thirtieth day of November in every year, send to the office of the inspector upon blanks to be furnished by him a correct return, specifying with respect to the year ending on the preceding first day of October the quantity of coal, iron ore, fireclay, limestone, or other mineral product of such mine or quarry, and the number of persons ordinarily employed in or about such mine or quarry below and above ground, distinguishing the persons and labor below ground and above ground.

Rev., s. 4941; 1897, c. 251, s. 3.

6908. Liability for injuries. For any injury to person or property occasioned by any wilful violation of this chapter, or any wilful failure to comply with its provisions, by any owner, agent, or manager of the mine, a right of action shall accrue to the party injured for any damage he may sustain thereby; and in any case of loss of life by reason of such wilful neglect or failure a right of action shall accrue to the personal representatives of the deceased, as in other actions for wrongful death.

Rev., s. 4942; 1897, c. 251, s. 6.

Death resulting from negligence in providing appliances: Hardister v. Richardson, 169-186.

6909. Punishment for violation. If any person shall knowingly violate any of the provisions of the law relating to mines or shall do anything whereby the life or health of persons or the security of any mine and machinery is endangered, or if any miner or other person employed in any mine governed by the statutes shall intentionally or wilfully neglect or refuse to securely prop the roof of any working place under his control, or neglect or refuse to obey any orders given by the superintendent of a mine in relation to the security of a mine in the part thereof where he is at work and for fifteen feet back of his working place, or if any miner, workman, or other person shall knowingly injure any water-gauge, barometer, air-course, or brattice, or shall obstruct or throw open any airways, or shall handle or disturb any part of the machinery of the hoisting engine or signaling apparatus or wire connected therewith, or air pipes or fittings, or open a door of the mine and not have the same closed again, whereby danger is produced either to the mine or those that work therein, or shall enter any part of the mine against caution, or shall disobey any order given in pursuance of law, or shall do any wilful act whereby the lives and health of the persons working in the mine or the security of the mine or the machinery thereof is endangered, or if the person having charge of a mine whenever loss of life occurs by accident connected with the machinery of such mine or by explosion shall neglect or refuse to give notice thereof forthwith by mail or otherwise to the inspector and to the coroner of the county in which such mine is situated, or if any such coroner shall neglect or refuse to hold an inquest upon the body of the person whose death has been thus caused, and return a copy of his findings and a copy of all the testimony to the inspector, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned in the county jail not more than thirty days, or both.

Rev., s. 3797; 1897, c. 251, s. 8.

INSPECTION OF MINES

6910. Commissioner of labor and printing is inspector. The commissioner of labor and printing shall perform the duties of mine inspector as provided in this chapter.

Rev., s. 4943; 1897, c. 251, s. 1.

6911. Inspector to examine mines. It shall be the duty of the inspector to examine all the mines in the state as often as possible to see that all the provisions and requirements of this chapter are strictly observed and carried out; he shall particularly examine the works and machinery belonging to any mine, examine into the state and condition of the mines as to ventilation, circulation, and condition of air, drainage and general security.

Rev., s. 4944; 1897, c. 251, s. 2.

6912. May enter to make examinations. For the purpose of making the inspection and examinations provided for in this chapter, the inspector shall have the right to enter any mine at all reasonable times, by night or by day, but in such manner as shall not unnecessarily obstruct the working of the mine; and the owner or agent of such mine is hereby required to furnish the means necessary for such entry and inspection; the inspection and examination herein provided for shall extend to fire-clay, iron ore, and other mines as well as coal mines.

Rev., s. 4945; 1897, c. 251, s. 2.

6913. Death by accident investigated. Upon receiving notice of any death resulting from accident it shall be the duty of the inspector to go himself, or send a representative, at once to the mine in which the death occurred and inquire into the cause of the same, and to make a written report fully setting forth the condition of that part of the mine where such death occurred and the cause which led to the same; which report shall be filed by the inspector in his office as a matter of record and for future reference.

Rev., s. 4946; 1897, c. 251, s. 6.

6914. Record of examinations. He shall make a record of all examinations of mines, showing the date when examination is made, the condition in which the mines are found, the extent to which the laws relating to mines and mining are observed or violated, the progress made in the improvement and security of life and health sought to be secured by the provisions of this chapter, number of accidents, injuries received, or deaths in or about the mines, the number of mines in the state, the number of persons employed in or about each mine, together with all such other facts and information of public interest, concerning the condition of mines, development and progress of mining in the state as he may think useful and proper, which record shall be filed in the office of the inspector, and as much thereof as may be of public interest to be included in his annual report.

Rev., s. 4947; 1897, c. 251, s. 2.

6915. Papers to be preserved. He shall keep in his office and carefully preserve all maps, surveys, and other reports and papers required by law to be filed with him, and so arrange and preserve the same as shall make them a permanent record of ready, convenient, and connected reference.

Rev., s. 4948; 1897, c. 251, s. 3.

6916. Inspector to enforce law; counsel furnished. In case of any controversy or disagreement between the inspector and the owner or operator of any mine or the persons working therein, or in case of conditions or emergencies requiring counsel, the inspector may call on the governor for such assistance and counsel as may be necessary. If the inspector finds any of the provisions of this chapter violated or not complied with by any owner, lessee, or agent in charge, unless the same is within a reasonable time rectified, and the provisions of this chapter fully complied with, he shall institute an action in the name of the state to compel the compliance therewith. The inspector shall exercise a sound discretion in the enforcement of this chapter.

Rev., s. 4949; 1897, c. 251, s. 2.

6917. Operation enjoined when law violated. On application of the inspector, after suit brought as directed in the preceding section, any court of competent jurisdiction may enjoin or restrain the owner or agent from working or operating such mine until it is made to conform to the provisions of this chapter; and such remedy shall be cumulative, and shall not take the place of or affect any other proceedings against such owner or agent authorized by law for the matter complained of in such action.

Rev., s. 4950; 1897, c. 251, s. 7.

6918. Report to governor. The inspector shall annually make report to the governor of all his proceedings, the condition and operation of the different mines of the state, and the number of mines and the number of persons employed in or about such mines, the amount of coal, iron ore, limestone, fire-clay, or other mineral mined in this state; and he shall enumerate all accidents in or about the mines, and the manner in which they occurred, and give all such other information as he thinks useful and proper, and make such suggestions as he deems important relative to mines and mining, and any legislation that may be necessary on the subject for the better preservation of the life and health of those engaged in such industry.

Rev., s. 4951; 1897, c. 251, s. 3.

6919. Application of law. The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to or affect any mine in which not more than ten men are employed at the same time; but the inspector shall at all times have free ingress to such mines for the purpose of examination and inspection, and shall direct and enforce any regulation in accordance with the provisions of this chapter that he may deem necessary for the safety of the health and lives of the miners employed therein.

Rev., s. 4952; 1897, c. 251, s. 8.

WATERWAYS OBTAINED

6920. Water and drainage rights obtained. Any person or body corporate engaged or about to engage in mining, who may find it necessary for the furtherance of his operations to convey water either to or from his mine or mines over the lands of any other person or persons, may make application by petition in writing to the clerk of the superior court of the county in which the lands to be affected or the greater part are situate, for the right so to convey such water. The owner of the lands to be affected shall be made a party defendant, and the proceeding shall be conducted as other special proceedings.

Rev., s. 4953; Code, ss. 3293, 3294, 3300; 1871-2, c. 158, ss. 1, 3.

6921. The petition, what to contain. The petition shall specify the lands to be affected, the name of the owner of such lands, and the character of the ditch or drain intended to be made.

Rev., s. 4954; Code, s. 3294; 1871-2, c. 158, s. 3.

6922. Appraisers; appointment and duties. Upon the hearing of the petition, if the prayer thereof be granted, the clerk shall appoint three disinterested persons, qualified to act as jurors, and not connected either by blood or marriage with the parties, appraisers to assess the damage, if any, that will accrue to the lands by the contemplated work, and shall issue a notice to them to meet upon the premises at a day specified, not to exceed ten days from the date of such notice. The appraisers having met, shall take an oath before some officer qualified to administer oaths to faithfully perform their duty and to do impartial justice in the case, and shall then examine all the lands in any way to be affected by such work, and assess the damage thereto, and make report thereof under their hands and seals to the clerk from whom the notice issued.

Rev., s. 4955; Code, ss. 3295, 3296, 3299; 1871-2, c. 158, ss. 4, 5, 9.

6923. Confirmation of report; payment of damages; rights of petitioner. After the filing of the report and confirmation thereof by the clerk, who shall have power to confirm or, for good cause, set aside the same, the petitioner shall have full right and power to enter upon such lands and make such ditches, drains, or other necessary work: Provided, he has first paid or tendered the damages, assessed as above, to the owner of such lands or his known and recognized agent, if he be a resident of this state, or have such agent in this state. If the owner be a nonresident and have no known agent in this state, the amount so assessed shall be paid by the petitioner into the office of the clerk of the superior court of the county for the use of such owner.

Rev., s. 4957; Code, s. 3298; 1871-2, c. 158, s. 12.

6924. Registration of report. The petitioner, or any other person interested, may have the report of the appraisers registered upon the certificate of the clerk and shall pay the register a fee of twenty-five cents therefor.

Rev., s. 4957; Code, s. 3298; 1871-2, c. 158, s. 8.

6925. Obstructing mining drains. If any person shall obstruct any drain or ditch constructed under the provisions of this chapter, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Rev., s. 3380; Code, s. 3301; 1871-2, c. 158, s. 12.

6926. Disposition of waste. In getting out and washing the products of kaolin mines, the persons engaged in such business shall have the right to allow the waste, water, and sediment to run off into the natural courses and streams.

1917, c. 123.

ADJUSTMENT OF CONFLICTING CLAIMS

6927. Liability for damage for trespass. If any owner or person in possession of any mine or mining claim shall enter upon, either on the surface or underground, any mine or mining claim, the property of another, and shall mine or carry away any valuable mineral therefrom, he shall be liable to the owner of the mine so trespassed upon for double the value of all such mineral mined or carried away, and for all other damages; and the value of the mineral mined or carried away shall be presumed to be the amount of the gross value ascertained by an average assay of the excavated material or vein or ledge from which it was taken. If such trespass is wrongfully and wilfully made, punitive damages may be allowed.

1913, c. 51, s. 1.

6928. Persons entitled to bring suit. The owner of a mine in this state, or any person in possession under a lease or other contract, may maintain an action to recover damages to such property arising from the operation of any adjacent mine by the owner thereof or other person in possession and working the same under lease or contract, and also to prevent the continuance of the operation of the adjacent mine in such a manner as to injure or endanger the safety of the complainant's mine.

1913, c. 51, s. 1.

6929. Application and order for survey. The person entitled to bring an action, as provided in the preceding section, may apply to any judge of the superior court having jurisdiction to grant injunctions and restraining orders, and obtain an order of survey in the following manner: He shall file an affidavit giving the names of the parties and the location, as near as may be, of the mine complained of; the location of the plaintiff's mine, and that he has reason to believe that the defendant, or his agents or employees, are or have been trespassing upon his mine, or working the defendant's mine in such a manner as to damage or endanger the plaintiff's property. Upon the filing of the affidavit, the judge shall cause a notice to be issued to the defendant or his agents, stating the time and place and before whom the application will be heard, and requiring them to appear, in not less than ten nor more than twenty days from the date thereof, and show cause why an order of survey should not be granted. Upon the hearing, and for good cause shown, the judge shall grant an order directed to some competent disinterested surveyor or mining engineer, or both, as the case may be, who shall proceed to make the necessary examination and surveys, as directed by the court, and report their action to the court. The persons selected by the judge to make the survey and examination shall be residents of the state, and, before entering upon the discharge of their duty, shall take and subscribe an oath that they will fairly and impartially survey the mines described in the petition. In all other respects, except as stated above, the surveyors appointed by the judge shall proceed as in surveys in disputed boundaries.

6930. Free access to mine for survey. Upon the order made for the survey in the manner, at the time, and by the persons mentioned in the order, which shall include a representative of the party making the application, who shall not be one of the surveyors, there shall be given free access to the mine for the purpose of survey, and any interference with the persons acting under the order of survey shall be contempt of court and punished accordingly. If the persons named in the order of survey so require, they, with their instruments, shall be carefully lowered and raised in and out of the mine with the cage, bucket, or skip ordinarily used in the shafts of the mine; and they may demand of the owner of the mine, or his manager or agent, that they be so raised and lowered at a speed agreeable to them and not to endanger their comfort and safety or to injure the accuracy of their instruments. The owner of the mine, his managers or agents, shall be liable in damages to the persons making the examination for any injury to them or to their instruments, caused by the careless and negligent operation of any bucket, cage, or skip at such a high rate of speed as to injure the persons or their instruments while being lowered or raised in the mine.

1913, c. 51, s. 2.

6931. Costs of the survey. The costs of the order and survey shall be paid by the person making the application; but if he shall maintain an action and recover damages for the injury done or threatened prior to such survey and examination, the costs of the order and survey shall be taxed against the defendant as other costs in the action. The party obtaining the survey shall be liable for any unnecessary injury done to the property examined and surveyed in making the survey.
